

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. PUBLISHER'S NOTE.

It was at the request of the publisher that Mr. Green kindly consented to prepare a revised edition of his valuable paper on "Library Aids," read at the Baltimore Conference of Librarians, February, 1881. The paper was first printed in the Library Journal, April, 1881, and subsequently was published for distribution as a separate pamphlet by the Bureau of Education, for a purpose clearly indicated in the following note, printed on the title-page of the pamphlet:

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
BUREAU OF EDUCATION,
WASHINGTON, March 24, 1881.

The following article by Samuel S. Green, Esq., the accomplished and well-known Librarian of the Worcester (Mass.) Free Public Library, answers many inquiries addressed to this Office as to the sources of information respecting the establishment and conduct of libraries.

It is impossible for the Office to publish at present fuller or more complete suggestions of this character.

JOHN EATON,
Commissioner.

The publisher has every reason to believe that the re-issue of this paper, revised to date, will be appreciated by all who are interested in library matters.

He has added, with the kind permission of the authors, the library references from Poole's "Index to Periodicals," and the chapter on "Books and Articles on Reading," from "Libraries and Readers," by W. E. Foster; also the bibliography references from the "American Catalogue," and (without permission, a liberty which the publisher feels assured the authors will forgive for the good purpose sake) the library authorities quoted in that admirable article on "Libraries," by H. R. Tedder and E. C. Thomas, in the "Encyclopædia Britannica."

There is, perhaps, a raison d'être for the appendix of publishers' pages, since all contain "works for the library."

It is hoped that this little volume may form the foundation of a "Library Annual," having for chief features a topical record of the more prominent bibliographies, and of the articles and books relating to libraries, published during the year. Any suggestions, or bibliographical contributions, will be thankfully received.

F. LEYPOLDT.

NEW YORK, June 1, 1883.

Library Aids.

It is very desirable that a library manual should be prepared and published. None exists in the English language. There are materials, however, for a good one in the contents of the seven volumes of the Library Journal already published and of the Special Report issued at Washington in 1876, by the Bureau of Education, and entitled Public Libraries in the United States of America, their history, condition, and management.

I have been requested to call attention to the more important articles and papers in these publications, and by grouping them under appropriate headings make their usefulness more apparent than it is at present to the great body of librarians and persons interested in establishing and maintaining libraries.

I proceed, without further introduction, to do this work, premising only that large portions of both publications having interest as history only, or because they describe different kinds of libraries, or give library news, will not be alluded to.

The work here undertaken ends with the last number of the Library Journal for the year 1882. The association referred to throughout this paper is the American Library Association.

LIBRARY LEGISLATION.

For instruction in regard to the history of this subject and the teachings of experience respecting the best forms for library laws, mention should first be made of the excellent Report on library legislation (L. J., v. 4, p. 300), made by Dr. H. A. Homes, and to a paper which he read before making it, Legislation for public libraries (L. J., v. 4, p. 262). The laws proposed as model legislation are printed in the Library Journal, v. 5, pp. 79, 109; read, also, in this connection, editorial notes on pp. 76 and 106, in the same volume.

Other articles on this subject which it is desirable to read are State legislation in the matter of libraries, by W. F. Poole (L. J., v. 2, p. 7), Free town libraries in the Spec. Rep. (p. 445), and Public library government (L. J., v. 2, p. 292). There is a record of a discussion which followed Mr. Poole's paper in the L. J., v. 2, p. 20.

For a law recently passed by the Rhode Island Legislature providing for the punishment of persons who deface books or keep them out over time see L. J., v. 7, p. 228. For interesting rules provided for the government of the public library at Bridgeport, Conn., see ordinance of the Common Council of that city, etc. (L. J., v. 7, p. 233).

FOUNDATION OF LIBRARIES.

Note especially the Organization and management of public libraries, by W. F. Poole (Spec. Rep., p. 476), How to make town libraries successful, by F. B. Perkins (Spec. Rep., p. 419), A word to starters of libraries, by Justin Winsor (L. J., v. 1, p. 1), Some popular objections to public libraries, by W. F. Poole (L. J., v. 1, p. 45), and Rev. A. M. Pendleton's series of useful articles, How to start libraries in small towns (L. J., v. 1, pp. 161, 213, 249, 313, 355, and 421).

See, also, Method of securing the multiplication of libraries: Report by Henry A. Homes and discussion of the same (L. J., v. 6, p. 133).

LIBRARY BUILDINGS.

Attention should be called to Library buildings, by Justin Winsor (Spec. Rep., p. 465), Construction of library buildings, by William F. Poole (L. J., v. 6, p. 69), and Progress of library architecture, by William F. Poole (L. J., v. 7, p. 130); also to discussions on this subject at the meetings of the association in New York (L. J., v. 2, p. 31), Boston (L. J., v. 4, p. 292), Washington (L. J., v. 6, p. 123), and Cincinnati (L. J., v. 7, p. 196). See The National-library building, by J. L. Smithmeyer (L. J., v. 6, p. 77) for an illustrated account of the building which it has been proposed to erect for storing the Library of Congress.

Mr. Poole criticises Mr. Smithmeyer's plans in the second of his two articles referred to just above. For remarks by Mr. Spofford on a building for the Library of Congress see L. J., v. 6, p. 126. The trustees of the Boston Public Library have recently issued a report on the fitness of the English High and Latin School building for the uses of the Public Library. This contains six plans, four of them for a new building on the Dartmouth Street lot given to the city by the state. Examine in connection Minority report of W. H. Whitmore on the fitness of the English High and Latin School building for the uses of the Public Library, with four plans. One of the latter is a plan of the Harvard C. L. book-stack.

Examine, also, Hints for improved library economy, drawn from usages at Princeton, by Frederick Vinton (L. J., v. 2, p. 53), Brown University Library (L. J., v. 3, p. 117), and Elevator in Worcester Public Library (L. J., v. 4, p. 201).

There is an account of the new building for the Public Library at Newcastle, England, in L. J., v. 7, p. 272.

VENTILATION, HEATING, AND LIGHTING.

Note Ventilation of libraries, by D. F. Lincoln, M.D. (L. J., v. 4, p. 254), Warming libraries, by A. M. Pendleton (L. J., v. 5, p. 277, and Heating libraries, by Melvil Dui (L. J., v. 6, p. 93).

The subjects of ventilating and warming library buildings demand fuller treatment than they have received. Much information regarding the use of the electric light for libraries has appeared in the Library Journal. I wish to call attention to the following articles, stating only in advance that Mr. Richard Garnett, who writes two of them, is keeper of the reading-room in the British Museum, and that the electric light has been in use in this reading-room for a considerable time. Perhaps it would be well to read the articles in the following order:

The Electric light at the British Museum reading-room (L. J., v. 4, p. 128), Electric light [in the British Museum], in a letter of Richard Garnett (L. J., v. 4, p. 444), Electric light in the British Museum (L. J., v. 5, p. 153), The electric light at the British Museum: a letter from Richard Garnett (L. J., v. 5, p. 171).

Great advances have been made lately in the direction of rendering the electric light available for illuminating purposes.

For an editorial note by Mr. Cutter advocating the introduction of electric lights into libraries see L. J., v. 7, p. 43.

It is the opinion of several librarians that the arc light is unsuitable for lighting libraries because of flickering, but that the incandescent light when further developed is likely to prove serviceable for library purposes.

Articles treating of the effects of gas in disintegrating leather will be referred to under the heading Binding.

BIBLIOGRAPHY, ETC.

An excellent list of books of reference needed by the officers of libraries is that contained in Mr. Winsor's paper in College libraries as aids to instruction. This pamphlet was issued by the Bureau of Education as Circular of Information No. 1, 1880.

Mr. Winsor has begun to print a list of the most useful reference-books which is to be issued as number 17 of the Bibliographical contributions of the Library of Harvard University.

The British Museum has recently issued a Hand-list of bibliographies, classified catalogues, and indexes placed in the reading-room of the British Museum for reference, by G. W. Porter.

In the Special Report issued in 1876 by the Bureau of Education we have Works of reference for libraries, by A. R. Spofford (p. 686), Library bibliography (containing lists of books of reference and of articles in periodicals concerning libraries), by A. R. Spofford (p. 733), Scientific libraries in the United States, by Prof. Theodore Gill (p. 183), an article which mentions the best special bibliographies in the different branches of science, namely, anatomy, chemistry, etc., and Medical libraries in the U. S., by Col. J. S. Billings (p. 171), in which are scheduled the leading reference-works needed in medical bibliographical work.

In Part II of the Special Report we have as Appendix II to Mr. Cutter's Rules, etc., a list of bibliographical works needed by the cataloguer. Mr. Cutter also states here where fuller lists may be found.

One of the most comprehensive bibliographies for the practical uses of every day is "Bibliographical Aids," by F. Leypoldt, prefixed to the second volume of his American Catalogue.

Valuable lists of books are appended to articles on different subjects in the Encyclopædia Britannica. Among special bibliographies recently issued attention should be called to the following :

The book of British topography: a classified catalogue of the topographical works in the Library of the British Museum, relating to Great Britain and Ireland, by J. P. Anderson.

A manual of historical literature, by Prof. Charles K. Adams, published by Harper & Brothers, which comprises brief descriptions of the most important histories in English, French, and German, together with practical suggestions as to methods and courses of historical study, and is a very valuable bibliography. (See Notice in The Nation of May 4, 1882.)

Reader's hand-book of the American Revolution, by Justin Winsor.

Gardiner and Mullinger's introduction to the study of English History, which contains valuable lists of books.

The literature of civil-service reform in the United States, by W. E. Foster, published by the Young Men's Political Club, Providence, and a list of works on Political Economy, and Political Science, compiled by W. G. Sumner, David A. Wells, W. E. Foster, R. L. Dugdale, and G. P. Putnam, and issued as Eco-conomic Tract No. 2 by the Society for Political Education, New York.

An enumeration of such printed lists as have been recently issued of Public Documents of the United States Government is contained in the second part of a report on the Distribution of Public Documents, by S. S. Green (L. J., v. 7, p. 228).

The librarian who consults bibliographical lists has to be on the lookout to see that the latest edition of a work is given in them and that supplementary volumes have not been published to works there recorded. For example, a new edition of that very important work Vapereau's Dictionnaire universel des contemporains and supplementary volumes of Brunet's Manuel have been published within two or three years.

A sure resource in case of doubt is to read over the lists under the proper headings prepared by Mr. Cutter for the department "Bibliography" in the successive numbers of the Library Journal. The Library Journal contains and refers to other valuable bibliographical matter. We note the following articles and lists:

Reference-books in English, by Justin Winsor (v. 1, p. 147); Library Aids, by S. S. Green (v. 6, p. 104), which covers ground similar to that covered by the present paper up to about the date of the Washington Conference held in February 1881, and which soon after that date was issued in a pamphlet form by the United States Bureau of Education; Library Purchase-

Lists, prepared by C. A. Cutter, which have appeared in successive numbers of the Library Journal (beginning with v. 6, no. 1), and which contain selections of new books suitable for being placed in libraries, with notes of commendation or caution; Bibliography of the pre-Columbian discoveries of America, by Paul B. Watson (v. 6, p. 227), in connection with which it is well to call attention to "Notes on the Bibliography of Yucatan and Central America," by Ad. F. Bandelier, published in the Proceedings of the American Antiquarian Society, at the meeting held at Worcester, October 21, 1880; Purchasing List of Sketch-books of Japanese artists and English works published in Japan and China, by Frank S. Dobbins (v. 7, p. 292); Index by author of serial stories contained in bound volumes of leading periodicals, by W. I. Fletcher (v. 6, p. 42), with a few additions by W. M. Griswold (v. 6, p. 167), and List of important serial stories published in the Revue des Deux Mondes to 1880 inclusive, by W. I. Fletcher (v. 6, p. 166).

The portion of the latest edition of the Handbook for readers, with regulations, issued by the Boston Public Library entitled "Books on special subjects, how to find them," contains a valuable list of reference-books.

The Chronological index to historical fiction, and the Annotated catalogue of books in the Lower Hall, of the classes of history, biography, and travel, also issued by the Boston Public Library, are of great service in supplying humble biographical needs. The former is now embraced in the catalogue entitled Fiction and juveniles, with notes for readers, issued by the last-named library. Attention should in this connection be called to The reader's guide to English history, by Prof. W. F. Allen, issued by Ginn, Heath & Co. This work contains in four parallel columns (a) the genealogical tables of English rulers; (b) good historical reading, whether histories, biographies, or essays; (c) novels, poems, and dramas relating to each period; (d) the same class of works illustrating contemporary history. Note also A descriptive catalogue of historical novels and tales, for the use of school libraries and teachers of history, enlarged from the list in the Journal of Education, March 1882, by H. Courthope Bowen. London, E. Stanford, 1882.

Elaborate and valuable bibliographies appear in the bulletins issued by the library of Harvard University, which has also issued the following Bibliographical Contributions made up mainly if not wholly from the bulletins:

1. Edward S. Holden. Index-catalogue of Books and Memoirs on the Transits of Mercury.
2. Justin Winsor. Shakespeare's Poems: a Bibliography of the Earlier Editions.
3. Charles Eliot Norton. Principal books relating to the Life and Works of Michel-Angelo, with Notes.
4. Justin Winsor. Pietas et Gratulatio. An Inquiry into the authorship of the several pieces.
5. List of Apparatus in differ- ent Laboratories of the United States, available for Scientific Researches involving Accurate Measurements. 6. The Collection of Books and Autographs, bequeathed to Harvard College Library, by the Honorable Charles Sumner. 8. Calendar of the Arthur Lee Manuscripts in Harvard College Library. 9. George Lincoln Goodale. The Floras of different countries. 10. Justin Winsor. Halliwelliana: a Bibliography of the Publications of James Orchard Halliwell-Phillipps. 11. Samuel H. Scudder. The Entomological Libraries of the United States. 12. A List of the Publications of Harvard University and its Officers, 1870-1880. 13. Samuel H. Scudder. A Bibliography of Fossil Insects. 14. William H. Tillinghast. Notes on the Historical Hydrography of the Handkerchief Shoal in the Bahamas. 15. J. D. Whitney. List of American Authors in Geology and Palæontology. The following two have been begun: 16. Richard Bliss, jr. Classified Index to the Maps in Petermann's Geographische Mittheilungen, 1855-1881. 17. Justin Winsor. A List of the most useful Reference Books.

The Lenox Library has issued the following contributions to a catalogue: 1. Voyages of Halsius, etc.; 2. Jesuit Relations, etc.; 3. Voyages of Thévenot, etc.; 4. Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress, etc.; 5. Works of Shakespeare, etc. The last of these contributions, with the catalogue of books on Shakespeare, in the Barton collection of the Boston Public Library, makes the contribution of the United States a valuable addition to the bibliography of the writings of the great English dramatist.

Cornell University has issued three numbers of The Library. These contain valuable lists of books on the German civil services, architecture, Petrarch bibliographies, the study of the Egyptian hieroglyphs, mathematics, and the living authors of Iceland, besides notes and lists of additions to the University Library. Valuable bibliographies have been published in many of the bulletins of the Boston Public Library. The British Museum has recently begun the publication of lists of books in its library by and about such authors as Dante, Shakespeare, Homer, etc. References to special bibliographies of general interest appear under the heading Bibliography in successive numbers of the Library Journal and in the monthly notes of Library Association of the United Kingdom. Here for example have been recently noticed books containing lists of the writings of Dickens, Thackeray and Ruskin (1834 to Oct. 1878), and of Herschel the astronomer, and a notice of a second edition of Trübner & Co.'s Catalogue of Dictionaries and Grammars of the principal languages and dialects of the world.

A revised edition has been published of Books and Reading, by Noah Porter, President of Yale College. This is a valuable book for popular use. The present edition is enriched by an appendix, containing a select catalogue of books, prepared by Mr. James M. Hubbard.

This list of Mr. Hubbard is excellent, and cannot fail to prove useful. The works given, however, under the headings "Bible" and "Christ" are utterly inadequate to give a record of the thought and scholarship of the present time.

A second series of The best reading, prepared by Lynds E. Jones, has just been issued by G. P. Putnam's Sons. It is supplementary to the useful first series which was edited by F. B. Perkins, and contains a priced and classified bibliography for easy reference of the more important English and American publications for the five years ending Dec. 31, 1881. In the Naturalist's assistant (pages 145-224), by J. S. Kingsley, Boston, 1882, is a bibliography of 1500 works necessary for the systematic zoölogist. The lists of additions issued by the Boston Athenæum, the Hartford Library Association, and several other libraries are valuable for the knowledge which they give in regard to the character of recent publications. The list formerly prepared by Mr. W. E. Foster of Providence for the State Superintendent of schools in Rhode Island has been discontinued, as the ground which he intended to cover with his list is now covered by the Library Purchase-Lists, which, as has been stated before, are published every month in the Library Journal.

It may not be amiss to remind managers of small libraries that the best sort of information regarding books may be obtained by reading the book-notices of such papers as The Literary World, The New York Evening Post, or its weekly issue—The Nation, and The Critic, in the United States, and The Academy and The Athenæum, in London.

Some of the best library catalogues, such, namely, as that of the Boston Athenæum, the Brooklyn Library, and the subject-catalogue of the Library of Congress are very useful for bibliographical purposes.

For an account of bibliographical matter issued once a month by W. E. Foster see Libraries as Educational Institutions.

Especial mention should be made of the American Catalogue, planned by F. Leypoldt, and compiled under his direction by L. E. Jones, and it should be stated distinctly that the libraries of the country are very much indebted to Mr. Leypoldt for carrying through such an undertaking as this valuable but unremunerative work, and for his generous conduct in publishing the Library Journal, although for several years he incurred heavy loss in doing so. The American Catalogue contains, first, author and title entries of books in print and for sale (including reprints and importations) July 1, 1876; second, subject-entries of the same books. Prefixed to v. 2 (subject-entries) is the useful list of "Bibliographical Aids," before mentioned. Late volumes of the Uniform Trade List Annual contain yearly lists of books recorded in the Publishers' Weekly, with additional titles, etc. These supplement the list in the American Catalogue. Begin with the volume for 1877. The Publishers' Weekly, issued by Mr. Leypoldt, gives lists of current American publications. The Trade List Annual and The Publishers' Weekly contain much interesting and valuable bibliographical matter besides the lists of books just mentioned, and are indispensable to librarians. See, also, The Literary News published by Mr. Leyboldt.

For an alphabetical list of works published in Great Britain and of the principal works published in America, etc., from January 1835 to December 1880 see the three volumes of The English Catalogue of Books compiled by Sampson Low and published by Sampson Low, Marston, Searle & Rivington. A supplement to this work is issued annually, and in The Bookseller may be found a list of current English publications. See, also, Index to the British Catalogue of books published during the years 1837 to 1857 and Index to the English Catalogue of Books, vol. 2., 1856 to January, 1876, both volumes compiled by Sampson Low, for an index of subjects.

A new edition of Poole's Index to Periodical Literature has just been issued. It was prepared by W. F. Poole assisted by W. I. Fletcher and the co-operation of fifty libraries, and indexes periodicals which bear a date earlier than January 1, 1882. It is published by James R. Osgood & Co. at $15 a copy. Mr. Poole has formed a plan which it is hoped may be carried out for issuing annually a supplement to the Index. Allusion should be made to the following useful indexes, etc., which have been issued recently: North American Review (1815-1877) and Supplementary Index to the North American Review (1878-1880), by Rev. W. Cushing; General Index to the North American Review (1861-1882), by Q. P. Index (W. McCrillis Griswold); Christian Examiner (1824-1869); Bibliotheca Sacra (vols. 1 to 30, through the year 1873); Harper's Monthly (vols. 1 to 60, June 1850 to June 1880); Scribner's Magazine (vols. 1 to 10, Nov. 1870 to Oct. 1875; vols. 11 to 20, Nov. 1875 to Oct. 1880; vol. 21, Nov. 1880 to Apr. 1881; vol. 22, May to Oct. 1881); a General Index to Scribner's Monthly, issued by Q. P. Index in 1881; the Atlantic Monthly, both that issued by its publishers (1857-1876) and a Supplementary Index to the Atlantic Monthly, giving gleanings from the volumes already indexed and indexing subsequent volumes up to the beginning of 1881, issued in Bangor, Maine, by Q. P. Index; General Index to the Nation (July 1865-Sept. 1880), by Q. P. Index; General Index to the International Review (1874-1880), by Q. P. Index; General Index to the first series of Lippincott's Magazine (vols. 1-26), issued by Q. P. Index in 1881; General Index to the Eclectic Magazine (vols. 1-96) and to the Living Age (vols. 37-148), issued by Q. P. Index in 1881; Autoren- und Sachregister der Deutschen Rundschau (vols. 1-29), issued in 1882 by Q. P. Index; General-Autor- und Sachregister zu zeitschriften meist historischen inhalts, und zwar: Die Historische Zeitschrift, Unsere Zeit, Das Historische Taschenbuch (1880-1881), by Q. P. Index; Revue des Deux Mondes (Table générale, 1831-1874);

New York Daily Tribune Index (1875-1882); Palmer's Index to the Times Newspaper (Jan. 1, 1860-Sept. 30, 1882); Chronicles of facts and events in the successive annual volumes of the Boston Almanach, the Week and Summary of the week's news in the Nation, lists of important events appearing in newspapers at the close or beginning of every year, and Annals of our time, with supplements, by Joseph Irving (1837-July 22, 1878); A partial index to the proceedings of the American Antiquarian Society from 1812 to 1880, prepared by Stephen Salisbury, jr.; the publications of the Index Society, namely: 1. Wheatley, H. B. What is an Index? [With Preliminary list of English Indexes]; 2. Peacock, M. G. W. Royalists whose estates were confiscated during the Commonwealth, etc.; 3. Gomme, G. L. Index of Municipal Offices, etc.; 4. Report of annual meeting. Appendixes: Huth, A. H. Index to books and papers on Marriage between near kin, Birch, W. de G. Styles and titles of English Sovereigns, Solly, E. Indexes of portraits: European Magazine, London Magazine, and Register of the Times, Index of obituary notices; 5. Solly, E. Index of hereditary English, Scotch, and Irish tales of honour; 6. Clark, P. Index to Trevelyan's Macaulay, cab. ed. 1878; 7. CATALOGUING.

A history of catalogue-making and a criticism of the different kinds of catalogues are contained in the article Library catalogues, by C. A. Cutter, in the Special Report (p. 526). Persons interested should study this paper, for it is very important to learn what experience has taught before undertaking to make a catalogue. Part II of the Special Report is Rules for a printed dictionary catalogue, by C. A. Cutter. We have here the first printed rules for making a catalogue on the dictionary plan. The writings of Mr. Cutter on the subject of cataloguing and the work he has done in preparing catalogues have shown that he is an authority in this matter second to none.

For expositions of other systems of cataloguing, mixed and classed, see Catalogues and cataloguing, by S. B. Noyes, Jacob Schwartz, John J. Bailey (Special Rep., p. 648), and the remarks of Melvil Dewey in Decimal classification and subject-index (Spec. Rep., p. 623).

The catalogue of the Boston Athenæum, the last volume of which has recently been issued, is the best example that we have of a printed catalogue prepared on the dictionary plan. It was made by Mr. Charles R. Lowell, but has been carefully revised and greatly improved by Mr. Cutter during its preparation for printing, and although he is unwilling to have it regarded as his ideal catalogue, yet, owing to his work, it has proved the most valuable contribution yet made anywhere to the list of printed catalogues of large libraries.

Mr. Noyes's catalogue of the Brooklyn Library is now complete. It is constructed on the dictionary plan, with modifications, the most important of which are the introduction in alphabetical order of carefully classed lists of books on the various branches of knowledge and the frequent use of references to periodicals. Mr. Noyes's catalogue is an admirable piece of work and one for which all students are indebted to him.

The report of the committee on uniform entries, appointed at the meeting of the association in New York, is published in the Library Journal (v. 3, p. 12), and the majority report there given contains the rules for cataloguing that stand as the rules recommended for use by the American Library Association until amended by it.

With Mr. Cutter's rules, this report, and good catalogues, such as those of the Boston Athenæum and the Library of Brooklyn, at hand, libraries are now well equipped for beginning under guidance the work of good cataloguing.

We do not realize how great our indebtedness is to the institutions which have incurred the expense of issuing the best printed catalogues. Why do not all librarians buy both of the catalogues just mentioned for the sake of the advantages to themselves which would result from their free use and to encourage other institutions to issue similar catalogues? With the rules we now have and the good examples of catalogues which we may acquire by purchase at what, considering their cost, is a nominal price, the work of cataloguing is half done, and can be intrusted to skilful persons who have had only elementary training in this kind of work with a little supervision on the part of a specially trained cataloguer.

As examples of annotated catalogues, we must still refer to the catalogue of the books in the Lower Hall of the Boston Public Library of the classes of history, biography, and travel, the fiction list of the same library, and to the catalogue of the Public Library at Quincy, Mass. An account of printed catalogues of the British Museum recently begun may be found in L. J., v. 6, p. 41. For a defence of the manuscript catalogues of the British Museum from criticisms by Prof. Dziatzko by Henry Stevens, and for a reply by Prof. Dziatzko see L. J., v. 7, p. 80 and v. 7, p. 83. L. E. Jones sent to the Cincinnati meeting of the Library Association (May 1882) a report containing an account of the principal printed catalogues that had been issued in the previous Library Association year (L. J., v. 7, p. 177). Excellent papers on cataloguing are those read at the Boston meeting of the association, by Fred. B. Perkins and James L. Whitney, entitled, respectively, Classification in dictionary catalogues (L. J., v. 4, p. 226) and Catalogues of town libraries (L. J., v. 4, p. 268). See, too, Mr. Garnett on Public libraries and their catalogues, by C. A. Cutter (L. J., v. 4, p. 452).

In L. J., v. 6, p. 315 may be found Rules for Cataloguing that have recently been under consideration by the Library Association of the United Kingdom. The first volume of the following valuable work was published in Edinburgh in 1882: A Dictionary of the anonymous and pseudonymous literature of Great Britain, including the works by foreigners written in, or translated into, the English language, by S. Halkett and J. Laing.

In L. J., v. 7, p. 296 Mr. Cutter makes clear the distinction between a pseudonym and a descriptive phrase.

For current information in regard to pseudonyms and anonyms reference is made to this heading of the Library Journal.

L. J., v. 7, p. 63 contains a note on The Entry of Anonymous Books by C. A. Cutter. Dr. J. S. Billings has issued three volumes (A-Dzondi) of his valuable Index catalogue of the Library of the Surgeon-General's Office, United States Army. Reference should be made to the lists of additions issued by several libraries, which are mentioned by name under the head of Bibliography, and to the Index Medicus, a monthly classified record of the current medical literature of the world, compiled under the supervision of Dr. John S. Billings and Dr. Robert Fletcher.

Prof. Cleveland Abbe of Washington stated in Feb. 1881 that he had an index of Meteorological matter containing 25,000 titles (L. J., v. 6, p. 122).

An inexpensive catalogue is described in the Library Journal (v. 1, p. 436).

There is much interesting matter about indexing in the Special Report and in the Library Journal, particularly in the latter. Thus we have The plan of the new Poole's Index, a library symposium, by S. B. Noyes, Justin Winsor, F. B. Perkins, J. L. Whitney, J. Schwartz, W. I. Fletcher, C. A. Cutter (L. J., v. 3, p. 141); The Index symposium and its moral, by W. F. Poole (L. J., v. 3, p. 178); Some points in indexing, by W. I. Fletcher (L. J., v. 4, p. 243); and Book indexes, by F. B. Perkins (Spec. Rep., p. 727).

Mr. C. A. Cutter read at the Washington meeting of the Library Association a report on the feasibility of making an index to Subject Headings (L. J., v. 6, p. 114). For a note on indexing by W. M. Griswold and communications on indexing see L. J., v. 6, p. 186 and v. 6, p. 203.

Added to the report of the committee on uniform title-entries are a general list of abbreviations and what are known as Cutter's abbreviations of Christian names (L. J., v. 3, p. 16). Note, also Months in brief entries, by Mr. Dewey (L. J., v. 4, p. 93), and Abbreviations for feminine names, by C. A. Cutter (L. J., v. 5, p. 176). Appended to the report above mentioned on Uniform title-entries is a sub-report on Sizes (L. J., v. 3, p. 19), which contains the results of much thought on the part of our best cataloguers. There is much more on this matter in the Library Journal, which may be found by the use of the indexes of that periodical. Mr. Cutter treats The use of capitals in the Library Journal (v. 1, p. 162).

For a description of the different kinds of catalogues in use in public libraries besides the kinds already considered see Appendix I to Mr. Cutter's Rules, etc., in the second part of the Special Report. A discussion of interest was started by Justin Winsor's Shelf-lists vs. Accession catalogues (L. J., v. 3, p. 247). Articles in which views different from those of Professor Winsor are expressed are Shelf-lists vs. Accession catalogues, by W. F. Poole (L. J., v. 3, p. 324), and The accessions catalogue again, by F. B. Perkins and Melvil Dewey (L. J., v. 3, pp. 336-338).

Directions in regard to the form of catalogue for gifts are given in L. J., v. 7, p. 296.

Note Brass guide-boards for card-catalogues, by C. A. Cutter (L. J., v. 5, p. 215).

THE NUMBERING OF BOOKS AND THEIR ARRANGEMENT AND CLASSIFICATION.

Read, first, two series of general articles by Melvil Dewey, namely, Principles underlying numbering systems (L. J., v. 4, p. 7 and p. 75), and Arrangement on the shelves (L. J., v. 4, p. 117 and p. 191). There have been three interesting and important discussions of these subjects in the Library Journal. In the first discussion the articles succeeded one another in the following order: A combined system for numbering and arranging, by J. Schwartz (L. J., v. 3, p. 6); Another method of numbering books, by C. A. Cutter (v. 3, p. 248); Mr. Cutter's numbering system, by J. Schwartz (v. 3, p. 302); Numbering: rejoinders to Mr. Schwartz, by M. Dewey and C. A. Cutter (v. 3, p. 339); Plans for numbering, with especial reference to fiction; A library symposium, John Edmands, J. N. Larned, M. Dewey, C. A. Cutter, F. B. Perkins (L. J., v. 4, p. 38).

The second discussion began with an article by Mr. Schwartz, entitled A mnemonic system of classification (L. J., v. 4, p. 3), which was followed by the Schwartz mnemonic classification, M. Dewey, F. B. Perkins, C. A. Cutter (L. J., v. 4, p. 92), and Classification on the shelves, by C. A. Cutter (L. J., v. 4, p. 234).

See, also, Mr. Cutter defends his modifications of the Dewey plan (L. J., v. 4, p. 17), and Mr. Cutter continues (L. J., v. 4, p. 88).

The third discussion began with Thirty-five versus ten, by C. A. Cutter (L. J., v. 7, p. 62), and was followed by Twenty-five plus ten versus thirty-five or ten, by J. Schwartz (v. 7, p. 84); Alfabetization vs. Classification, by R. Bliss, jr. (v. 7, p. 104); Alphabetical versus Logical Classification, by J. Schwartz (v. 7, p. 229); Logical Classification, by R. Bliss, jr. (v. 7, p. 251); and Alphabetical Classification, by J. Schwartz (v. 7, p. 272). See, also, The mnemonic numbering of books, by J. Fitzpatrick (v. 7, p. 229).

Other important articles are: A proposed modification of the Amherst classification in mathematics, astronomy, and physics, by Lord Lindsay (L. J., v. 4, p. 149); Classification for the natural sciences, by C. A. Cutter (L. J., v. 5, p. 163); Classification of Fiction, by A. P. Massey (L. J., v. 6, p. 7); Classification of the Book Arts, by C. A. Cutter (L. J., v. 7, p. 168); and, supplementary to this paper, Classification of Library Economy and History, by C. A. Cutter (L. J., v. 7, p. 271). Look at the report for 1880 of the librarian of Harvard College. Consult Decimal classification and subject-index, by M. Dewey, in Special Report (p. 623). See also British Museum Shelf-classification, by R. Garnett (L. J., vol. 2, p. 194), and Author catalogues in classified shelf systems, by C. A. Cutter and Melvil Dewey (L. J., v. 3, p. 371).

The subject of the classification of books has been ably discussed recently in the following papers: Classification on the shelves, by C. A. Cutter (L. J., v. 6, p.

64); Moveable Location, by F. B. Perkins (L. J., v. 7, p. 29); Mr. Perkins's classification, by Melvil Dui (L. J., v. 7, p. 60); Classification by J. N. Larned (L. J., v. 7, p. 125); The Classification of Books, by Lloyd P. Smith (L. J., v. 7, p. 172); and A new Classification and Notation, by J. Schwartz (L. J., v. 7, p. 148). Mr. Cutter's paper was read at the Washington meeting of the association and was followed by a discussion (L. J., v. 6, p. 115) which showed that the plan of the relative location of books was making great headway against the system of fixed location. Mr. Larned's paper read at the Cincinnati meeting of the association was also followed by a discussion (L. J., v. 7, p. 195). Note Harvard College Shelf Guide (L. J., v. 6, p. 54), a specimen of guides used in that library to show the classification of books on the shelves, and A search for a guide, by C. A. Cutter (L. J., v. 7, p. 44), which describes guides for the eye in use in the library of the Boston Athenæum to enable book-seekers to find readily such books as they desire.

ADMINISTRATION.

Consult especially reports of the coöperation committee of the American Library Association, to be found in different numbers of the Library Journal, particularly those which make up the earlier volumes. This committee, of which Mr. Cutter has been chairman, has made recommendations of the best methods and appliances in library matters, after careful examination of all proposed plans and suggestions. It has reached decisions on such subjects as accession-catalogue, shelf-catalogue, binders, printed numbers, call-slips, catalogue-slips, covering-paper, size of catalogue cards, etc. W. F. Poole's elaborate contribution to the Special Report on the Organization and management of public libraries (p. 476) is of great importance. Refer, also, to Proceedings of the Conference of Librarians at Philadelphia in 1876 and of the meetings of the American Library Association in New York, Boston, Washington, and Cincinnati, as reported in the Library Journal. Examine, too, Notes and Queries in different numbers of the Library Journal.

For instruction in regard to the best methods in use for charging books, and for criticism of various methods, read first an admirable series of articles in the Library Journal, by Melvil Dewey, entitled, respectively, Principles underlying charging systems (L. J., v. 3, p. 217); Charging systems based on accounts with borrowers (L. J., v. 3, p. 251); Charging systems based on accounts with books (L. J., v. 3, p. 285); and Charging systems: a new combined plan and various details (L. J., v. 3, p. 359). Consult, also, Systems of charging loans and an improved slip-case, by Frederick Jackson (L. J., v. 3, p. 230); The charging system at Harvard, by Justin Winsor (L. J., v. 3, p. 338); Another charging plan, by C. A. Cutter (L. J., v. 4, p. 17); A "combined" charging system, by J. Schwartz (L. J., v. 4, p. 275); Mr. Cut-ter's charging system, by C. A. Cutter (v. 4, p. 445); More about charging systems, by C. Estabrook, J. Schwartz, Melvil Dewey (L. J., v. 5, p. 72); New charging system in use in the Providence Public Library (L. J., v. 5, p. 320); and Charging systems, by K. A. Linderfelt (L. J., v. 7, p. 178).

Mr. W. F. Poole read at the Boston meeting of the association an interesting paper entitled Spread of contagious diseases by circulating libraries (L. J., v. 4, p. 258); Mr. W. B. Clarke read at the same meeting a paper on Book thieving and mutilation (L. J., v. 4, p. 249). Examine, also, in this connection Conviction for book-thieving (v. 4, p. 377); and Capture of a notorious book-thief, by Samuel S. Green (L. J., v. 5, p. 48).

In regard to the disposition to be made of pamphlets, consult Preservation of pamphlets, by C. A. Cutter (L. J., v. 1, p. 51); Proceedings of the conference of librarians at Philadelphia (L. J., v. 1, pp. 101, 104); Pamphlets (in an article by A. R. Spofford, on the binding and preservation of books, Spec. Rep., p. 677); and Treatment of pamphlets in special libraries, by E. S. Holden (L. J., v. 5, p. 166). For the recommendations of the association in regard to library statistics see report of the coöperation committee (L. J., v. 1, p. 429) and the amendments made to the report by the association at its New York meeting (L. J., v. 2, p. 37). Note, also, Library statistics, by Samuel S. Green (L. J., v. 5, p. 83), and Library statistics, by W. E. Foster (L. J., v. 5, p. 107).

In L. J., v. 7, p. 198 may be found a record of the practice of several libraries in regard to placing restrictions on the use of books. Mr. Cutter makes some editorial remarks on the Restriction on the Circulation of Periodicals in L. J., v. 7, p. 225.

Other interesting articles and papers in the Library Journal and Special Report to which attention may properly be called under the heading Administration are Branch libraries (L. J., v. 1, p. 288); A self-supporting collection of duplicate books in demand, by F. M. Crunden (v. 4, p. 10); Book-selections, by Melvil Dewey (v. 1, p. 391); Selection of Books for Sunday-school Libraries, and their Introduction to Children, by S. S. Green (L. J., v. 7, p. 250); Civil-service reform in public libraries (v. 5, p. 113); Book-auction catalogues and their perils, by A. R. Spofford (v. 3, p. 53); Alfabeting catalog-cards, by Melvil Dewey (L. J., v. 5, p. 176); New Form of Shelf-list, by J. Schwartz (L. J., v. 7, p. 251); and Public Libraries and the Public, by James W. Ward (L. J., v. 7, p. 167), with discussion (L. J., v. 7, p. 201). The Proposed New National Library (L. J., v. 7, p. 270) weighs the arguments for collecting all the government libraries in Washington into one building, and for keeping them as they now are in separate depositories.

See, also, Spec. Rep., p. 730; Delinquent notices and check box, by Melvil Dewey (L. J., v. 3, p. 370); and Duplicating processes, by Melvil Dewey, (L. J., v. 4, p. 165). References on many other subjects in which persons having the charge of libraries are interested would have been given here had room allowed. They are less necessary, since the excellent indexes which have been prepared for the Library Journal enable inquirers to find readily what it contains concerning any matter of interest. Look there and in the Special Report for such subjects as Indicators, Gum tragacanth as a library paste, Embossing stamps (for the covers of books), The Sunday use of libraries, etc.

BINDING.

Consult Binding and preservation of books, by A. R. Spofford (Spec. Rep., p. 673); Library memoranda, by Justin Winsor (Spec. Rep., p. 712); Bindings for a public library, by F. P. Hathaway (L. J., v. 4, p. 248); On binding, by Sir Redmond Barry (v. 2, p. 203); Before rebinding, by Edward G. Allen, of London (L. J., v. 5, p. 214); Buckram binding, by E. B. Nicholson (L. J., v. 2, p. 207); Buckram (L. J., v. 2, p. 34); and The use of buckram, linoleum, and cretonne for binding, by E. B. Nicholson in Proceedings of the United Kingdom Association (L. J., v. 5, p. 304).

In the article last referred to, Mr. Nicholson, the first man to recommend the use of buckram as a binding, withdraws his recommendation. It should be stated, however, that some librarians still regard buckram as a useful material for binding.

On the restoration of books see L. J., v. 2, p. 24.

For the effects of gas and heat on bindings see

Gas and heat (L. J., v. 1, p. 124); Gaslight and bindings, by F. B. Perkins (L. J., v. 3, p. 64); The deterioration of bindings, a letter from Prof. Wolcott Gibbs to William W. Greenough, president of the board of trustees of the Boston Public Library (L. J., v. 3, p. 229); Gas, in article on ventilation by D. F. Lincoln, M.D. (L. J., v. 4, p. 255); On the deterioration of library bindings, by Prof. W. R. Nichols (L. J., v. 4, p. 435); communication from William Hand Brown, of the Johns Hopkins University, on Bindings deteriorated without gas (L. J., v. 5, p. 50); and Deterioration of bindings, by H. A. Homes (L. J., v. 5, p. 213).

For Insect pests in libraries see an article with this title, by Prof. H. A. Hagen, in the Library Journal (v. 4, p. 251); The croton-bug as a library pest (v. 4, p. 376); Library pests (v. 4, p. 448); Injurious insects (beetles): Communication from the Public Library at Taunton, Mass (L. J., v. 6, p. 40).

LIBRARIES AS EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS.

Examine for information on this subject Public libraries in manufacturing communities, by W. I. Fletcher (Spec. Rep., p. 403); Public libraries and the young, by W. I. Fletcher (Spec. Rep., p. 412); Personal relations between librarians and readers, by Samuel S. Green (L. J., v. 1, p. 74); The usefulness of public libraries, as illustrated by the experience of the library at Worcester, Mass. (L. J., v. 5, p. 114);

J., v. 7, p. 182); and recent reports of the trustees of the Boston Public Library (for an account of the work done by attendants while stationed near the catalogue of the Lower Hall to give assistance to inquirers). For an account of assistance given to users of a reference library see Personal relations, etc., and Aids and guides for readers, papers by S. S. Green to which reference has just been made, and The relation of the public library to the public schools, by the same writer, to which reference is made below. Mention should here be made of a little volume entitled Libraries and readers, just issued by Mr. Leyboldt, which contains papers and addresses by W. E. Foster. Attention should also be called to the admirable selected lists of books needed in the investigation of various subjects, issued by Mr. Foster, of which several have been published in the Library Journal, and to Mr. Foster's article Reference lists on special topics, with specimens of lithogram bulletins (L. J., v. 5, p. 38). Mr. Foster publishes every month Reference Lists, for which he is ready to receive annual subscriptions. These have been published for two or three years. In a note at the bottom of the page may be found a list of the subjects illustrated in the numbers for January, February, March, and April, 1882, which will serve as a specimen of their contents.*

For the consideration of the place of libraries in college instruction, and for the treatment of kindred subjects, consult College libraries as aids to instruction (Circular of Information No. 1, 1880, issued by the Bureau of Education, which contains important papers by Prof. Justin Winsor and Prof. O. Note "Suggestions to Students," printed for the benefit of pupils in the Edinboro' State Normal School, Pennsylvania (L. J., v. 6, p. 160), and How to use the reading-room, a useful little publication prepared by Mr. Foster. Mr. Leypoldt has just published a pamphlet edited by S. S. Green entitled "Libraries and Schools," in which are brought together several of the best papers that have appeared which treat of the relations between schools and libraries which are possible and desirable. In Aids and guides for readers (L. J., v. 7, p. 145) may be found an account of some interesting new connections that have been made recently between the High School of Worcester, Massachusetts, and the Free Public Library of that city.

In regard to the fiction question refer to Sensational fiction in public libraries, by Samuel S. Green (L. For editorials, communications, etc., called out by recent consideration of the character of works of the imagination furnished by the Boston Public Library see L. J., v. 6, pp. 39, 45, 155, 204, and 223. For Fiction in Free Public Library, Worcester, see L. J., v. 6, p. 28. In L. J., v. 6, p. 314 is a circular prepared by the coöperation committee of the A. L. A. to be sent to libraries to ascertain the effect caused by the withdrawal from public use of certain works of fiction after a period of circulation, as well as the effect of not admitting such works. The answers received to the questions in this circular may be found tabulated in L. J., v. 7, p. 28.

For an example of radical opposition to the presence of any novels in a public library see Fiction in public libraries, by William Kite (L. J., v. 1, p. 277). In the proceedings of the Philadelphia conference there is a discussion on novels in libraries (L. J., v. 1, p. 96); so, also, in the proceedings of the London conference (L. J., v. 2, p. 255), and of the Cincinnati meeting of the American Library Association (L. J., v. 7, p. 204). The characteristics of the works of "Some lady novelists" as seen from a public library are given in L. J., v. 7, p. 108.

For a list of the best hundred novels see an article by F. B. Perkins in the L. J., v. 1, p. 166. There is an interesting paper on Sunday-school libraries by Miss Martha H. Brooks in Library Journal, v. 4, p. 338. Look, also, under the heading Administration for an article by S. S. Green entitled Selection of books for Sunday-school libraries, etc.

The Thomas Crane Public Library, of Quincy, Massachusetts, has issued two Children's Book Lists, one containing books under the heads Fiction, Fairy Tales, and Historical Fiction; the other, books under the heads Biography, History, Science and Natural History, Travel and Adventure, Miscellaneous. The lists are intended to be short, containing, both together, only a few hundred volumes. These lists have proved useful.

Mr. J. N. Larned, of Buffalo, has recently issued a catalogue of books in the Young Men's Library suited to young persons, indicating in it such books as he knows to be wholesome. Mr. Larned published a large enough edition of his catalogue to enable him to sell copies to other libraries.

Mr. Leypoldt has just published a catalogue of Books for the Young, by Miss C. M. Hewins. This contains an admirable selection of books for children, and is by far the best catalogue of books of this kind that has yet appeared.

NEED OF TRAINED LIBRARIANS.

Examine Library science a special study at the (German) universities, by Rullman (Spec. Rep., p.

xxiv); Apprenticeship of librarians, by Melvil Dewey (L. J., v. 4, p. 147); Consulting librarianship, by Melvil Dewey (L. J., v. 5, p. 16); Selecting and training library assistants, by James L. Whitney (L. J., v. 7, p. 136); and Training of assistants in a library, by F. Vinton (L. J., v. 7, p. 290). Examine L. J., v. 6, p. 257, under the heading Need of trained librarians, for the substance of a report of the Council of the L. A. U. K. describing a plan for securing trained librarians.

LIBRARIES WITH MUSEUMS.

See Special Report, p. 434, Art museums and their connection with public libraries, by H. S. Frieze, and Libraries with museums, by H. A. Homes (L. J., v. 6, p. 81). There is a discussion of the latter paper in the L. J., v. 6, p. 128. Note, also, Separate the departments (L. J., v. 5, p. 223).

DISTRIBUTION OF PUBLIC DOCUMENTS.

A report criticising the present plans for the distribution of public documents and suggesting changes in the plans that would make the distribution more satisfactory to librarians, prepared by S. S. Green as a member of a committee of the American Library Association, was read at a meeting of the association held in Washington, February 1881, and may be found in L. J., v. 6, p. 86. For a discussion of this report see L. J., v. 6, p. 130. Mr. Green made a report on the action of Congress in regard to plans for the distribution of public documents at the session beginning in December 1881 (L. J., v. 7, p. 226). By a resolution of the House of Representatives adopted Aug. 8, 1882, J. G. Ames, A. R. Spofford, and Spencer F. Baird were appointed a committee to prepare a report regarding the publication and distribution of public documents. The committee has made a report, and it has been printed as Miscellaneous Document Number 12, H. R., 47th Congress, Second session. It contains, first, a compilation of such laws as are permanent or continuous in their operation governing the printing and distribution of public documents, with notes embodying information deemed of general interest or value; second, a tabulated statement of the documents of the Forty-sixth Congress and of the first session of the Forty-seventh Congress, printed or to be printed in compliance with the provisions of laws already in force and of special acts or resolutions of Congress showing the number, distribution, and, so far as it has been found practicable to give it, the cost of the same, together with the number to which each member of Congress is entitled, and the surplus remaining after the distribution directed has been made. This report is accompanied by a bill and resolutions which in the judgment of the committee would greatly increase the satisfactoriness of the provisions of law now existing.

CONCLUSION.

In closing, it should be stated that there is much discussion in the Special Report and Library Journal concerning improvements which it is to be hoped will be some time introduced. Such subjects are treated there as coöperative cataloguing, coöperative indexing of periodicals (as supplementary to the work done by Mr. Poole in his Index of Periodical Literature), the supply by publishers of catalogue-slips with books sold to libraries and individuals, the distribution of public documents, a clearing-house for duplicates, etc.

Progress is continually being made in respect to methods of housing and administering libraries. Librarians should, therefore, read carefully the successive issues of the Library Journal (N. Y., Frederick Leypoldt), the reports of the meetings of the American Library Association, those of the meetings of the Library Association of the United Kingdom, the Monthly Notes of this association, the first number of which, issued by Trübner & Co., bears the date Jan. 15, 1880, and such works as are issued in the interest of libraries by the United States Bureau of Education.

SAMUEL S. GREEN,
Worcester, Massachusetts.

LIBRARY AUTHORITIES.

The following "authorities" are quoted, in the Encyclopædia Britannica (vol. 14, 1882) under the article "Libraries," by H. R. Tedder, F.S.A., Librarian Athenæum Club, and E. C. Thomas, B.A., Secretary, Library Association. London:

There have been many books written about library-management. A complete list of those published down to about 1865, with critical notes, is given in Petzholdt's Bibliotheca Bibliographica (Leipsic, 1866). Among recent treatises the valuable works of Mr. Edward Edwards—Memoirs of Libraries (1859, 2 vols. 8vo), Free Town Libraries (1869), Libraries and Founders of Libraries (1865), Lives of the Founders of the British Museum (1870, 2 vols. 8vo)—should be in the hands of all librarians. Petzholdt's Katechismus der Bibliothekenlehre (Leipsic, 1871) is a practical little volume. * The report of the Bureau of Education on Public Libraries of the U. S. (Washington, 1876, 2 parts 8vo), besides giving an exhaustive account of all the American libraries, also includes a great variety of valuable information on library economy. The six volumes of the Library Journal contain much that is useful for practical librarianship; it is a well-edited periodical. Petzholdt's Anzeiger is of a more bibliographical character. The different publications of the Library Association include a great deal of interesting matter.

* It is proper to state here that Dr. Zoller is preparing a new, enlarged edition of his "Bibliothekwissenschaft in Umrisen," (Stuttgart, 1846).—F. L.

A select list of general and special bibliographies is given in Bost. Pub. Lib. Handbook for readers. The Library of Congress, Boston Public Library, Astor Library, and N. Y. State Library are especially full in bibliographical works. The Library Journal has a regular department of the current bibliographical publications. A list of bibliographical journals is published every year in Schulz' Adressbuch für den deutschen Buchhandel.

The Bost. Pub. Lib. Handb. for readers recommends the following bibliographical periodicals: "For current works in English consult Leypoldt's Publishers' Weekly, which has taken the place of the old Publishers' Circular. The London Bookseller and Publishers' Circular are similar records for Great Britain. For publications in French there are the monthly issues of Bossange and Reinwald, in Paris, and of Christern, in New York. The Polybiblion: Revue Bibliographique Universelle has been published since 1866. The Bibliographie de la France has a yearly index of authors and subjects. For those in German there are the lists of Christern, Westermann, and Steiger, in New York. The Allgemeine Bibliographie, published monthly by Brockhaus, of Leipzig, is a classed catalogue of the most important European and American publications. Other useful publications as records of current bibliographical issues are Petzholdt's Neuer Anzeiger, which has been continued since 1840, with useful classified indexes, and the Serapeum, now discontinued, also running back to 1840.

[To these journals should be added the Monthly Notes of the Library Association of the United Kingdom, The Bibliographer (London) and Le Livre (Paris). F. L.]

In connection with this list, which was compiled in 1881, should be mentioned the most important of recent publications, viz., "Bibliographie des Bibliographies," par Léon Vallée, de la Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris, 1883, fully described in the Library Journal, June, 1883. This work is arranged alphabetically by authors, but has an index of subjects. Worthy of special mention is also "An Index to some Recent Reference Lists," by H. J. Carr, in the Library Journal, February, 1883. This to some extent forms a supplement to the "Bibliographical Aids" in the "American Catalogue." It is arranged on the same plan, viz., alphabetically by subjects. The Monthly Notes of the L. A. U. K., February, 1883, contains Mr. Tedder's paper on "The Bibliography of 1882." See, also, Library Journal, Foster's Monthly Reference Lists, Literary News, and Publishers' Weekly, whose various bibliographical features are fully described elsewhere in this pamphlet.

In addition to Mr. Green's remarks on Poole's "Index to Periodical Literature" (Library Aids, p. 15), it should be stated that not only has the plan for issuing annual supplements been decided upon, but that a monthly "Co-operative Index to the Monthly Current Numbers of Leading Periodicals," edited by W. I. Fletcher, is now a regular feature of the Library Journal. See full account in the pages of the publisher, appended to this pamphlet. F. L.

VIII. BOOKS AND ARTICLES ON READING.

IN this article we shall aim to point out the various treatises, manuals, articles and essays which bear upon the subject of this book. In other words the reader will find here a series of references to the subject of reading by which he can study it with as much fulness as he desires. And it should be remembered, as has been pointed out elsewhere,* that, because many different persons have written on this subject, it does not necessarily follow that one should read them all; though it does follow that a reader will do well to examine, and see what has been written.

Some of the books on reading.— Among the books which deserve to be read through may be mentioned President Porter's "Books and reading", a new edition of which has appeared within a year. This work is prepared on a very comprehensive plan, giving counsel and suggestions in connection with almost every phase of the subject, and also mentioning a large number of books by title.

Two other books published within a few years which deserve mention are "The choice of books", by Professor C. F. Richardson; and "Hints for home reading", by Lyman Abbott, Charles Dudley Warner, and others.

The second is what is sometimes called a symposium in which the various sides of the question are presented by different writers. For instance, Mr. Sweetser discusses "What the people read"; Dr. Hamlin discusses "Plans of reading"; Mr. Hale gives suggestions on "The choice of books", etc. It should be added that this book has thirty pages devoted to lists of books, with prices added.

This feature of book lists is prominent in "The best reading," edited by F. B. Perkins and others. This book has gone through many editions, of which the latest was issued in 1877, but it has been continued by a "Second series" published in 1882, edited by L. E. Jones. At the end of this book (the edition of 1877), there are about forty pages of suggestions and counsel on reading. The "Readings on readings", at p. 305-18 are quotations from a great variety of authorities.

Several other publications prepared on a similar plan have been published within the last fifty years,* but no one of them so well meets the case as "The best reading."

Some lectures and addresses.—But aside from these systematically constructed "handbooks" and "lists", some of the most valuable counsel and suggestions on reading have been given in the shape of lectures or addresses. We will mention some of the best. In 1864 John Ruskin delivered two lectures at Manchester, England, which have since been published under the title, "Sesame and lilies." In 1866 Thomas Carlyle, on delivering his inaugural address as rector of the University of Edinburgh, furnished some very suggestive counsel "On the choice of books." In 1877 Dean Stanley delivered an address at Bristol, England, on "The education of after-life", touching quite fully on "reading as an influence in such education." In 1878 Mr. G. J. Goschen delivered an address on "The culture of the imagination", dealing largely with the question of reading. This was published separately as a pamphlet, but was also reprinted in Littell's, v. 141, p. 620-29. In 1878 the late Professor Diman delivered a noteworthy address on reading, at the dedication of the Rogers Free Library, Bristol, R. I., which has been printed. In 1879,

* Some of these are mentioned in the Library Journal, v. 5, p. 41.

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes delivered an admirable address on reading, before the Society to Encourage Studies at Home. [Printed, in part, in the Boston Daily Advertiser, July 25, 1879.]* In 1878 Professor William P. Atkinson delivered before the Boston Young Men's Christian Union a remarkably suggestive lecture "On the right use of books." [This is published separately, as is also an earlier lecture by Mr. Atkinson, on "Books and reading", 1860.] A lecture on "The friendship of books", by the late Rev. Frederick Denison Maurice is found in the volume of that title, published in 1880. This admirable volume also contains other noteworthy lectures delivered between 1850 and 1864, on "Books", "Words", "Ancient history", "English history", and "The use and abuse of newspapers." The lecture on "Culture by reading and books", in James Freeman Clarke's excellent volume, "Self-culture," is particularly worthy of attention.

Some things in periodicals.—There are two recent magazine articles of considerable value; "Books and critics", by Mark Pattison, Fortnightly Review, Nov., 1877, (reprinted in Littell's, v. 135, p. 771-83); "On the choice of books", by Frederic Harrison, Fortnightly Review, Apr.,

* See quotations from this address at pages 25 and 32 of this volume.

1879, (reprinted in Littell's, v. 141, p. 259-71, and also in Appleton's Journal, v. 21, p. 432-43). See also the articles by E. O. Vaile, on "Reading as an intellectual process", Popular Science Monthly, Dec., 1875; by Josiah P. Quincy, on "The abuse of reading", Old and New, April, 1873, v. 7, p. 445-50; and by "Arthur Penn", (J. B. Matthews) "Notes on reading", The Century, May, 1882. For other periodical references, see the new edition of Poole's Index, p. 1085.

Parts of books.—We must not omit to mention also the important material which is to be found published not as separate books, nor as separate articles, but as parts of books.

For instance, the essay on "Books" in Ralph Waldo Emerson's volume, "Society and solitude", is something which no one would wish to overlook. And the older essay of Lord Bacon, which has the title "Of studies", has excellent counsel on the use of books which perhaps has not since been surpassed for soundness. Charles Lamb's "Essays of Elia", contain some "Detached thoughts on books and reading", which are noteworthy. It is here that he makes the remark that "Milton almost requires a solemn service of music to be played before you enter upon him." ("Works", Am. ed., v. 2, p. 191-92.) William Godwin, in "The enquirer", (1797) has an essay on "Reading." No one who knows the quality of Sir Arthur Helps's writings will wish to lose the essays and discussions on "Reading" and "History" in his "Friends in council", series 1, volume 1. In Hamerton's "Intellectual life" there are two admirable letters on "Reading." Dr. W. E. Channing, in a lecture on "Self-culture", delivered in 1838, has some very appropriate words on reading, ("Works", (1843), v. 2, p. 377-80; ed. of 1875, p. 23-24.) In Smiles's "Character" is a chapter on "The companionship of books"; and in his volume on "Self-help" also are some helpful suggestions, (Am. ed., p. 363-66.) Another excellent book is that by John Stuart Blackie, "On self-culture", which has suggestions as to reading, (p. 9-10, 37-51.) Another helpful book is Munger's "On the threshold", which has a chapter on "Reading." See also the chapters on "Books", in Bishop Clark's volume, "Early discipline and culture", and in many other similar books. In the two little books, "How to do it", and "What career?", Rev. Edward Everett Hale has most happily succeeded in presenting the principles of right reading for young readers. See also "How to read", by "Olive Thorne", (reprinted from St. Nicholas.) See also "Self-formation", by Capel Lofft. Also the suggestive remarks of Mr. Ruskin, appended to his "Elements of drawing", (Am. ed., p. 231-34.) Also the chapter on "Habits of reading", in Professor E. T. Channing's "Lectures on rhetoric and oratory." Professor Henry Reed's "Lectures on English literature" and "Lectures on English history" contain such chapters as "The study of history", "Sunday reading", etc.

The following will also be found interesting: "The art of reading", in "Essays in mosaic", edited by Thomas Ballantyne and the chapter on "Re-reading a book", in Jacox's "Recreations of a recluse", v. I, p. 22-46. "Men and books", by Professor Austin Phelps, published within a year, has a title which is misleading without the addition of the sub-title, "Studies in homiletics."

The introductory chapter "On the study of history", prefixed to C. K. Adams's "Manual of historical literature", (p. 1-30), deserves and will command very careful attention.

Under the head of fiction reading, there is a somewhat voluminous literature. The indexes to the successive volumes of the Library Journal will refer you to much of it; and you will also find many articles and papers referred to in Mr. S. S. Green's paper on "Library aids", read at the Baltimore meeting of the American Library Association, (p. 9-10 of the report as published by the U. S. Bureau of Education, and also in the Library Journal, v. 6, p. 110-11.) An article not there included is the very suggestive one by Professor Justin Winsor, in the Boston Daily Advertiser, June 9, 1877, on "Fiction as a starting-point in reading."

Reading of school children.—An almost equally voluminous literature is that on the reading of school children. See under this head also Mr. Green's "Library aids", p. 9, (also in Library Journal, v. 6, p. 110); also the volume, "Libraries and schools", edited by Mr. Green, (just published by F. Leyboldt), which includes some of those cited in the "Library aids." Also, nos. 1 and 2 of the "Free public library circular", issued by the state board of education of Rhode Island, (no. 1, "How and what to read", by Rev. Washington Gladden; and no. 2, "Reading in the right direction", by A. F. Blaisdell, M.D.) There are also two recent annual reports of state boards of education containing discussions of this topic, which have been separately reprinted; ("Books and reading for the young", from the annual report of the Indiana superintendent of public instruction, 1880; and "The reading of our boys and girls", from the annual report of the secretary of the Connecticut Board of Education, 1882.) In the Library Journal, Sept.-Oct., 1879, it will be remembered, are printed the papers on this topic, read before the American Librarian Association in 1879. The little volume prepared by Miss C. M. Hewins, under the title of "Books for the young", and lately published by F. Leypoldt, meets most admirably the demand for carefully selected lists, and contains also valuable and interesting counsel. Other serviceable lists of books for young readers are those published by the Buffalo Young Men's Library and the Brookline Public Library.

Other phases of the subject.—On the relation of public libraries to readers, see Mr. Winsor's paper at the Library Conference in 1876, on "Free libraries and readers", (Library Journal, v. 1, p. 63-67.) Also Mr. S. S. Green's paper at the same conference, on "Personal relations between librarians and readers", (Library Journal, v. 1, p. 74-81; also published separately.) Also the paper on "Professorships of books and reading", by William Mathews, (United States government report on "Public libraries in the United States", 1876, p. 240-51; also reprinted in Mr. Mathews's "Hours with men and books", p. 136-58.) And that by Mr. F. B. Perkins, on the same subject, (U. S. government report, p. 230-39.) On "library lectures", see the address of Rufus Choate, in 1854, ("Works", v. 1, p. 468-74.) Also an article by W. E. A. Axon, of Manchester, England, in the Library Journal, v. 3, p. 47-49, and a letter by Professor Winsor, in the Library Journal, v. 3, p. 120-21.

Literary periodicals.—Not only for suggesting lines of reading, but for indicating suitable books for purchase, the best literary periodicals are of great value. For instance, the regular reading and consulting of such papers as The Nation, The Critic and The Literary World, whose book-reviews are of recognized authority, cannot fail to be serviceable;—provided they are properly used. It is frequently well to see what is said of a book by some critic, after reading it ourselves, but it is also well to have formed our own opinion of the book first, subject to the modification which we find to be necessary from the points made by the critic. But these reviews are nearly always valuable as pointing out those characteristics of a book which will enable us to judge whether we need to read it, or own it. Of similar service, to a certain extent, are some of the cheaper literary papers, such as Good Literature and The Literary News. The former of these chiefly aims to give suggestive and valuable extracts from the best of the current publications. The latter aims rather at showing readers the quality and value of these current publications by quoting what is said about them as well as extracts from them. Nor will a reader find it amiss to consult what may be called the "technically literary" publications, such as the Library Journal, Publishers' Weekly, etc. Although these are primarily intended for librarians and publishers and booksellers, the information they contain is of importance to any one who is selecting books for purchase or use. What we have thus far mentioned are all American publications. If the reader has time for it, he will certainly do well to extend his reading to the English critical papers of similar scope; The Athenæum, The Academy, The Spectator, the English Literary World, which as well as its American namesake, is a helpful publication, and others.

The bibliography of reading.—Lastly, the reader cannot afford to overlook the bibliography of his subject. Here, however, we cannot do better than to refer the reader to Sabin's "Bibliography of bibliography"; Power's "Handy book about books;" the list of "Books of reference for libraries", by A. R. Spofford, (in the U. S. government report p. 686-710); the notes under "Bibliography" in Mr. Green's paper on "Aids and guides for readers", (Library Journal, July-Aug., 1882, p. 146-47); and particularly to the very comprehensive article, "Bibliographical aids", by F. Leypoldt, in the "American catalogue", pt. 2, (Subjects), p. v-xx. Under the head of "Indexes" in Mr. Green's "Aids and guides for readers" just referred to, reference is made not only to Poole's Index, but to the numerous indexes to single periodicals recently published, (Library Journal, v. 7, p. 139-41.) In the same article is an allusion to the Monthly Reference Lists (published by the Providence Public Library), in which the idea of "practical bibliography" has received a very noteworthy development. It is of considerable importance that there should be no misconception as to the proper function of these references and of those in such books as Winsor's "Reader's handbook of the American revolution", Gardiner and Mullinger's "Introduction to the study of English history", and Adams's "Manual of historical literature"; and the necessary limitations and scope of these works are pointed out in an article on "Helps for readers and librarians", (by the writer), in the Library Journal, May, 1882, p. 85-86. But since the publication of that article three others have appeared which are sure to be of great service. These are "Historical references", by Professor John T. Short; "The reader's guide to English history", by Professor William F. Allen; and a "Catalogue of historical novels and tales", by H. Courthope Bowen. The characteristics of these three works are well indicated in the Literary News, Oct., 1882, p. 306-7.

In conclusion we will remind the reader that the little volumes, "Books of all time", "A reading diary of modern fiction", and one or two other similar volumes in preparation, contain serviceable hints and suggestions for readers.*

* Among other discussions worthy of notice are the following: "The growth of young people's literature", in the New England Journal of Education, v. 17, no. 4 (1883); "The public library and the common schools", by Charles Francis Adams, jr., [1879], reprinted in the volume "Libraries and schools", already referred to; the excellent suggestions on "The use of reference books", by Miss Mary W. Hinman, at pages 45-56 of the Indiana school report, cited on page 124 of this volume; Langford's "Praise of books", a most delightful volume published in English a few years ago; and a volume just issued which is based on a similar plan, "The book-lover's enchiridion", by "Philobiblos." The latter, however, is pronounced by the Monthly Notes (of the Library Association of the United Kingdom) "a not uninteresting compilation"; adding: "It is impossible to say much for his sources or his accuracy." There is also a compilation published at Toronto in 1880, entitled "Pleas for books; selections for lovers of books." There is also a very striking and noteworthy address by Col. Homer B. Sprague, delivered at the dedication of the West Brookfield (Mass.) Public Library. See also the forcibly written article by the late Professor William Stanley Jevons, in the Contemporary Review, March, 1881, v. 39, p. 385-402, on "The rationale of free public libraries." We should not omit to add that one of the most thoughtful and suggestive considerations of the subject, under such heads as "the newspaper", "the novel", etc., is to be found in President John Bascom's 11th Lowell Institute lecture on "The philosophy of English literature."

ADDENDA.

Since the publication of "Libraries and Readers" the following works have been published or announced: "Books and how to use them," by J. C. Van Dyke (Fords); "The reading of books: its pleasures, profits, and perils," by Charles F. Thwing (Lee & Shepard); "The highways of literature, or what to read and how to read," by D. Pryde (Funk & Wagnalls); "Chats about books, poets, and novelists," by M. W. Hazeltine (Scribner); "Methodism and literature," by F. A. Archibald (Walden & Stowe), containing "a catalogue of select books for home reading;" "The home library," by J. Brander Matthews (Appleton); and "The library manual," by J. Herbert Slater, containing a classified list of works for the library.

There should also be added, as a work that should have been named under the "Bibliography of reading," Mr. G. W. Porter's "Hand-list of bibliographies, classified catalogues, and indexes" (British Museum, 1881). Also, Mr. H. J. Carr's "Index to some recent reference lists," Library Journal, Feb., 1883, v. 8, p. 27-32. Also the monthly index to the current numbers of the leading American and English journals, compiled, on the plan of Poole's "Index," by a number of librarians, and edited by W. I. Fletcher, in the Library Journal.

IN PREPARATION:

THE BOOKS OF HISTORY.

An annotated, classified catalogue of the most trustworthy works (in the English language) for the study of history and biography, and the history of literature, art, and philosophy. By Charles Kendall Adams, LL.D., Professor of History in the University of Michigan, author of "A Manual of Historical Literature" and "Democracy and Monarchy in France."

THE BOOKS OF SCIENCE.

An annotated catalogue of the most trustworthy works for the study chiefly of the physical and mathematical sciences. By Wm. C. Lane, of Harvard College Library.

THE BOOKS OF FICTION.

A representative list of the novels of the nineteenth century, preceded by suggestive remarks on novels and novel-reading, with blank pages for additions or memoranda. By F. Leypoldt. New edition of the "Reading Diary of Modern Fiction," brought down to date, and enlarged by a brief history of early fiction and notes on the more prominent novelists of to-day.

LIBRARY AIDS.

References to sources of information respecting the establishment and conduct of libraries. New edition, revised and brought down to January, 1883. By Samuel S. Green, Librarian Free Public Library, Worcester, Mass.

BOOKS ON READING.

A chapter on Books and Articles on Reading. Reprint from "Libraries and Readers," by W. E. Foster.

The Publishers' Weekly.

THE AMERICAN BOOK-TRADE JOURNAL.

F. LEYPOLDT, EDITOR.

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, established in 1872, with which was incorporated the American Literary Gazette and Publishers' Circular (established in 1852), by purchase from Mr. George W. Childs, is recognized as the independent representative of the publishing and bookselling interests in the United States.

The central feature of the paper, that makes it an indispensable aid to the trade, to libraries, and to literary people, is its Bibliographical Department. Every possible facility of reference is afforded by a combination of methods which records the books, by the week, the month, the season, and the year, under the author, the publisher, the title, the subject, and the class. It is acknowledged that no other journal, at home or abroad, supplies as practical and satisfactory a record of the publications of its country.

The bibliographical department includes:

1. A "Weekly Record" of all new American publications and reprints, giving their full titles (according to the rules of American Library Association), with place and date of publication, publisher's name, size, number of pages, and price; and also descriptive notes of books received. This first and practically the official record is arranged alphabetically by the authors or titles, and for ready reference is placed in the same accessible position in each number.

2. A weekly "Order List," being brief-title entries, with prices, of the "Weekly Record," arranged alphabetically by the publishers. The object of this list is to present at a glance the simultaneous issues of certain publishers, and to save time in the making up of orders.

3. A monthly "Index to the Weekly Record," being short-title entries, with the publisher's name and the size and price, arranged alphabetically by the authors, with references from the titles or catchwords, and from the subjects. With each entry is given also the number of the "Weekly Record" containing the full-title entry and note.

4. A monthly "Class Synopsis," grouping the works of the month under such heads as Biography, Description, Education, Fiction, Fine Arts, History, Law, Literature, Medical Science, Physical and Mathematical Sciences, Poetry and the Drama, Political and Social Science, Theology and Religion, etc.

5. A semi-annual classified list of Forthcoming Publications, given in the Spring and Fall Announcement numbers, in which also the announced books are more fully described under the name of the publishers, arranged alphabetically.

6. An annual Index to the books of the year, advertised by the more prominent publishers in the so-called Annual Summary Number, which generally is published in the last week of January. In this number is also given a classified summary of the more prominent publications of the year.

7. Regular Lists of the Season, published as follows: A complete priced catalogue of Educational Books, in July; a priced list of the Holiday Books and prominent Juvenile Books of the year, in November; a supplementary list of new Educational Books, in February; a list of Guide and Summer Books, in May.

8. Quarterly lists of the Publications of the U. S. Government.

9. Semi-monthly lists of the more prominent New English Books.

10. Special Bibliographies. The timely bibliography, now in course of publication, is "Literary Property: a catalogue of books and authors relating to literary property (copyright, international copyright, and kindred subjects), by Thorvald Solberg.

The Literary Department includes comprehensive intelligence as to books forthcoming and publishing movements, at home and abroad, gathered with the aid of representatives in other cities; editorial discussions on book and trade subjects, as copyright, postal questions, book production and manufacture, etc.; original contributions and representative extracts on like topics; topical "cues" or references to bibliographical sources or courses of reading and study; journalistic notes; business notes; literary and trade notes, etc. etc.

The Advertising Department is by no means a subordinate feature in a journal chiefly devoted to books. In the PUBLISHER'S WEEKLY, indeed, it is so representative of the publishing enterprises of the day that it becomes an essential supplement to the other departments.

A minor but practical and convenient feature is the "Books Wanted" column, giving subscribers the privilege of a free insertion of five lines in each issue.

Terms, $3.20 per year, 10 cents per number. Sample copies furnished on application. Address

Your paper is now a real benefit to the public and the book trade.—S. C. GRIGGS & Co., Publishers, Chicago.

The Weekly is the most useful of any of the literary bulletins that I have ever had, and I think I have tried them all.—CHAS. E. HAMMET, Jr., Newport, R. I.

We cannot help again commending the Publishers' Weekly, from which we cull many items, as the best periodical of its kind in America. It is very ably conducted.—Boston Traveler.

The Publishers' Weekly and Library Journal I frequently quote in the Journal Officiel, on matters concerning the book-trade and libraries.—G. DEPPING, Librarian of St. Geneviève, and Editor of the Journal Officiel, Paris.

We have always found the lists of "books published" in the Publishers' Weekly reliable, and we take this opportunity of acknowledging our indebtedness to Mr. F. Leypoldt's labors.—Trübner's Literary Record.

The careful cataloguing and excellent descriptive notes in the New York Publishers' Weekly are good examples of what book committees are glad to have before them.—H. R. TEDDER, F.S.A., and E. C. THOMAS, B.A., in the Encyclopædia Britannica, vol. xiv. (1882).

We wish to compliment you on the completeness of your paper. It is becoming more and more valuable, and we are pleased to find that the booksellers of the smaller cities are being heard from.—LORING, SHORT & HARMON, Portland, Me.

I fully appreciate the value of your excellent Weekly, as well as your own personal services and sacrifices in the interest of the trade. We have all much to thank you for. You richly merit the united and constant support of the trade in every section of the country.—ROBERT CLARKE, Cincinnati.

"Has risen to be the indispensable journal of the American book-trade. I can from my own experience recommend this journal, edited with practical knowledge and ability, to those wishing to keep posted on subjects pertaining to bibliography, bibliopoly, and literature in America.—Dr. JULIUS PETZOLDT, Editor of the Neuer Anzeiger für Bibliographie und Bibliothekswissenschaft.

The Publishers' Weekly is primarily, as its name indicates, a journal for the publishing and bookselling trade, and it aims to give all the information concerning books and literature generally which is of interest to every person engaged in any capacity in the preparation and distribution of books. In that respect it is probably the most thorough trade journal published in any country. Whilst the Publishers' Weekly is intended primarily for those who make and sell books, it is no less useful for book-buyers, and it is as interesting to those who wish to know something about the course of current literature although unable to invest in books except the most modest way.—Cleveland Herald.

THE CHRISTMAS NUMBER.

We beg you to accept our congratulations upon the appearance of the number [1880].—HARPER & BROTHERS.

The typographical excellence of this number is worthy of all praise. The fullest justice is done to many beautiful illustrations given; and we should imagine that publishers would find it difficult to find a better medium for making their works known.—Paper and Printing Trades Journal (London).

The Inter-Ocean again calls attention to the handsome and useful Christmas number of the Publisher's Weekly. Its advertising pages are adorned with the handsome illustrations of the holiday publications, and is of value as a useful record of works of the year and for its artistic beauty. No periodical fills its place more admirably than the Publisher's Weekly, edited by Mr. F. Leyboldt.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

One of the most tasteful and attractive catalogues which has yet been published, surpassing even the achievements of the English in the same line. It [issue of 1880] contains 170 pages of announcements, the most of which are accompanied by beautifully printed wood-cuts, which illustrate also the range and excellence of the art in this country. The number invites to repeated examination, through the elegance of its arrangements.—N. Y. Tribune.

THE AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE.

COMPILED BY G. D. T. ROUSE.

The Educational Catalogue, established in 1870, is published annually in the Educational Number of the Publishers' Weekly, and subsequently in the Publishers' "Trade-List Annual." It includes a price-list of all the text-books in use in the United States, arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subject-index, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject, so that the advantages of both a finding list for the trade and a class catalogue for the use of schools are combined. Price, separately, 25 cents.

F. LEYPOLDT, Publisher,

31 and 32 PARK ROW, NEW YORK.

The Educational Number of the Publishers' Weekly (1878) deserves more than a mere passing notice. Besides the usual array of book-advertisements, reviews, announcements, and literary notes, it contains a well-digested catalogue of educational works, arranged under their respective subjects, with the prices and publishers' names attached. An idea of the completeness and magnitude of this catalogue may be formed from the facts that the topics in the subject-index number 170, and that there are no less than 120 houses, whose publications are thus classified. The catalogue itself covers twenty-nine double-column large octavo pages. The value of such a list for ready reference can hardly be overestimated. The bookseller can turn to it to find by whom a given book is published, and its price; the teacher or school-officer can see just what books are within his reach on any particular branch; and the miscellaneous book-collector has here every facility for making selections for his library on any educational subject. All who are interested in school-books ought to preserve this catalogue as a vade mecum.—Christian Union.

The Library Journal.

OFFICIAL ORGAN OF THE AMERICAN LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.

GENERAL EDITOR: CHARLES A. CUTTER,
Librarian, Boston Athenæum.

THE LIBRARY JOURNAL was established in 1876 by the co-operative efforts of the leading librarians on both sides of the Atlantic. Its chief object is to be a practical help to the every-day administration of both large and small libraries, and to effect a saving by enabling library work to be done in the best way, at the lowest cost. The Journal especially meets the needs of the smaller libraries, offering them the costly experience and practical advice of the largest. In refraining from doing imperfectly what is done so well by the several journals specially devoted to antiquarian or purely historical interests, the LIBRARY JOURNAL is enabled to give its chief attention to modern bibliography and current literature, as represented particularly in its departments of "Bibliography" (proper), "Library Economy and History," "Anonyms and Pseudonyms," and the "Library Purchase-List."

Two important new features, that will render the LIBRARY JOURNAL more generally useful, have been introduced during 1883:

1. A monthly index to the current numbers of leading American and English periodicals, compiled, on the co-operative plan of Poole's "Index," by a number of librarians, and edited by William I. Fletcher, the associate editor of Poole's "Index."
2. A department of "Literature for the Young," consisting of a list of new books suitable for the young, with citations of authorities, and of notes and suggestions, from various sources, on reading and the best use of books. This department is edited by Miss C. M. Hewins, Librarian of the Hartford Library Association, and author of "Books for the Young," well known among librarians as one of the most efficient workers in this special field of literature.

The LIBRARY JOURNAL and the Monthly Notes of the Library Association of the United Kingdom (established in 1880) are the only periodical publications in the English language that are devoted exclusively to library interests. Although the exponents of the library experience of two countries, both journals are in so small a measure limited to national or local interests, and their general library and bibliographical information is so predominant, that both Journals should be in the hands of every English-speaking librarian, as inseparable companions.

Published monthly. Price of subscription, $4 per annum. Sample copies furnished on application. Address

F. LEYPOLDT, Publisher,

This excellent journal increases in interest as it proceeds.—Antiquary (London).

The Journal meets my highest expectations as an organ for libraries and librarians.—R. A. Guild, Librarian Brown University.

The American Library Journal should take its place upon the desk of every librarian and every collector of books, to whom it will furnish more than one useful help.—Journal des Débats (Paris).

Would save money and time wherever libraries are begun. The whole science of handling books to the end of their best popular use is expounded in its pages with the knowledge which comes by experience.—Literary World (Boston).

I consider the Journal one of the most valuable aids to librarians ever undertaken. I do not see how a librarian can venture to undertake his responsibilities without it. Every library, whether public or private, that spends $200 annually on its administration cannot pay out $5 with more advantage to itself than by taking the Journal.—John Eaton, Commissioner of Education.

The larger libraries, of course, all subscribe for the Library Journal. I cannot see how any small library can do without it. I am receiving a dozen letters a week from small libraries asking me questions which have been answered fully in the Library Journal. My custom is to answer briefly, and refer the inquirers to the Journal, advising them to subscribe for it forthwith.—W. F. Poole, Chicago Public Library.

I regard the Library Journal as one of the most important and indispensable aids to all who are connected with the management of libraries in any way. True economy of methods, time, and money may be here learned by the young librarian. The practical suggestions and information embodied in a single number are frequently worth ten times the year's subscription.—A. R. Spofford, Librarian of Congress.

The Library Journal is exactly the professional manual which will save money to the supporters of libraries, and labor and error to the librarian and his staff, and which will therefore directly increase the amount and usefulness of reading to be afforded to the public. It ought to pertain to every library just as books ought, or the salary of the staff.—F. B. Perkins, Librarian Mercantile Library, San Francisco.

Aims at supplying that want of a means of mutual communication, suggestion, and discussion which intelligent and active librarians have long felt. There is no reason why the Journal should not be as much read on this as on the other side of the Atlantic. To every librarian who wishes to bring his library to the most perfect method and highest degree of usefulness, it bids fair to be invaluable.—Academy (London).

Its value to smaller libraries is simply incalculable. Limited funds, want of trained assistance, inaccessibility of the best information, either in bibliography or in practical administration, lack of direct counsel from experienced co-laborers—these are all reasons why the smaller libraries should come forward, without exception, to the support of a journal which places the latest results of the combined wisdom of the best libraries at their command.—Thomas Vickers, Cincinnati Public Library.

It seems to me that no library can afford to do without a journal which contains so much that is suggestive and valuable. Apart from the literary information imparted, the practical hints in the direction of economy to be found in its columns should be worth more, particularly to the numerous smaller libraries of the country, than the subscription-price. A single suggestion may save three times five dollars, as happened recently within my own experience. Self-interest, if no other motive, should induce every young library to subscribe to a journal so worthy of support.—S. B. Noyes, Librarian Brooklyn Mercantile Library.

Index to Periodicals.

CO-OPERATIVE INDEX TO CURRENT NUMBERS OF LEADING PERIODICALS.

Edited by W. I. FLETCHER.

[Supplement to the Library Journal. See page 8.]

The suggestions for the co-operative indexing of current periodicals, submitted by Mr. Poole and Mr. Fletcher, and also by Mr. Stetson, in the January number (1883) of the Library Journal, have met with such prompt action on the part of interested librarians that Mr. Stetson's monthly plan has already gone into operation, and in such a manner as to prepare the way for Mr. Poole's annual and quinquennial continuations. It may be safely announced that both plans will be thoroughly tested. It has been decided that during 1883, as an experiment, the references shall be printed in the Library Journal. The first instalment begins in the April number.

The following periodicals have thus far found in dexters for the year 1883:

Academy.	Longman's Magazine.
Antiquary.	Macmillan's Magazine.
Athenæum.	Magazine of Amer. History.
Atlantic Monthly.	Nation.
Bibliographer.	Nature.
Blackwood.	New England Register.
British Quarterly.	New Englander.
Catholic World.	Nineteenth Century.
Century.	North American Review.
Chambers's Journal.	Overland.
Contemporary Review.	Popular Science Monthly.
Cornhill.	Portfolio.
Dublin Review.	Princeton Review.
Edinburgh Review.	Quarterly Review.
Fortnightly Review.	Science.
Harper's Magazine.	Scottish Review.
International Review.	Temple Bar.
Knowledge.	United Service Magazine.
Library Journal.	Van Nostrand's Eclectic En-
Lippincott's Magazine.	gineering Magazine.
Living Age.	Westminster Review.

Fifteen more journals will be added in July.

"As a supplement to the last edition of Poole this volunteer work is of the highest value."—Good Literature.

"Bookbuyers and students everywhere ought to subscribe to the Journal, if only for the sake of this new feature."—Nation.

"The Library Journal is the official organ of the American Library Association. It is an exceedingly well-printed paper, and it is engaged in the promotion of several excellent enterprises which will commend it greatly to the book-loving public. For instance, just now the Journal is endeavoring to procure the indexing of the current number of the different periodicals by distributing the work among the librarians and others who are willing to give their time and labor to a really good cause. There are few readers who are worthy to be called such who will not at once recognize the importance of this enterprise, and if all who do recognize its importance will give it a cordial encouragement, the scheme of co-operative indexing will before long be in process of successful accomplishment."—Phila. Telegraph.

"The real value of the Library Journal to the general student appears with great force in the March-April number, which contains the index of the previous year, with a wealth of special references to subjects which touch study at many points in pseudonyms, bibliographies, etc. When to this is added a supplement containing the "Co-operative Index" to current periodicals for January, February, April and March, and for six American monthlies, as well, the indispensable character of this aid to the research of the student must be apparent to every reader. It is safe to say that this supplement alone, if taken in an ordinary family of growing boys and girls, would, in two or three years, make the swarm of magazines which litter most houses the most valuable portion of the domestic library in training and education."—Phila. Press.

"The popular magazines, by the pecuniary inducements which they are able to offer to writers, are the vehicles through which much of the best thought of the time reaches the public. But no one is able to read all the periodicals that are published, nor even the standard ones, and this index is the key to all their treasures. To the literary worker its value can hardly be overestimated; to the specialist in any branch of science or letters it is indispensable, since it places within his immediate reach many of the latest fruits of labor in the same field; to every one who desires to be well informed it furnishes the means of making the most effective use of his time. The projectors and publishers of this index ought to receive the most cordial support. Whether the index continues to be printed in the Library Journal or not depends upon the pecuniary encouragement which the publishers receive."—Providence Press.

Monthly Reference Lists.

A GUIDE FOR THE READER AND STUDENT TO TRUSTWORTHY SOURCES OF INFORMATION ON CURRENT TOPICS.

PREPARED BY

WILLIAM E. FOSTER,
Librarian Providence Public Library.

F. LEYPOLDT, Publisher,
31 AND 32 PARK ROW, NEW YORK.

“The two volumes 1881-82, of the Providence Library's Monthly Reference Lists, . . . are a welcome addition to the endless variety of indexes. They can be used in connection with any good public or private library.”—The Nation, January 18, 1883.

“Most thoroughly and carefully selected, embracing a wide range, from the best German authorities to the latest articles in current literature.”—New England Journal of Education, April 21, 1881.

“Invaluable to editors and other persons desiring to consult works of reference.”—Indianapolis Daily Journal.

“Any teacher with advanced pupils, desirous of training students in habits of investigation, could scarcely do better than supply these lists as texts for composition.”—Springfield Daily Republican, April 22, 1881.

“. . . The most noticeable and perhaps the most valuable feature of Mr. Foster's reference lists is the topical subdivision of the main subject. For a student or teacher, the 'structural bibliography' is much more valuable and suggestive than a long list of authorities, which, in some cases, would be hardly better than a catalogue. For example, the subject of American

'Local Self-Government' is much better treated under the subdivision of 'Origin,' 'Tendencies,' 'New England Towns,' 'Middle Colonies,' 'Southern Colonies,' than under the main head alone, for the structural method presents the subject from different points of view, and yet as an organic whole. This structural method stands in the same relation to the generic subject of study as that subject does to study in general. A catalogue of mere names or a long bibliography of authorities is often very discouraging to readers, but when attention is called to a particular subject, to a special point of view, and to an individual author, then a point has been made for the encouragement of readers and of original research. The most important function which any catalogue, bibliography, reference list, or consulting librarian can discharge, is to arrest attention, to make mental points. Mr. Foster distinctly says in his preface that his reference lists 'are intended as working-lists and not as bibliographies.' He does not aim at being exhaustive, or exhausting, but as being suggestive. Mr. Foster has well said in the Library Journal (7: 86), the bibliography 'aims at completeness for the sake of completeness; but the working-list is as complete as it serves its purpose to be.' The purpose of Mr. Foster is manifestly that of a practical librarian, desiring to aid a reading public, and not that of a scientific specialist, a mere antiquarian bibliomaniac, desiring to collect or amass all existing authorities for the sake of having them at his command.

"Scientific point in the description of books, monographs, magazine articles is of more consequence to most readers than bibliographical enumeration or catalogue completeness. A reader does not want all books; he wants the best, and more especially one or two at a time, with special reference to particular things that may be found within them. . . . A good librarian like Mr. Foster and many others in this country will show the reader a subject-catalogue, a ready-reference-list, a definite way of finding out special things through some particular book. . . . A good method of ready reference is like a bright, sharp needle in a skilful hand, deftly working some fine or useful end; a poor method is like hunting for a needle in a haystack."—HERBERT B. ADAMS, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, in the N. E. Hist. and Geneal. Register, Jan., 1883.

AN ECLECTIC REVIEW OF CURRENT LITERATURE.

Published monthly, and containing the freshest news concerning books and authors; lists of new publications; reviews and critical comments; characteristic extracts; sketches and anecdotes of authors; courses of reading; bibliographical references; prominent topics of the magazines; prize questions on choice books and other literary subjects, etc. etc.

The Literary News, since its establishment under the name of The Literary Bulletin, in 1868, has passed through many transformations in appearance and method before acquiring the distinctive features which have given it a character of its own, and which have become so familiar to thousands of readers. In substance it has been the same since its inception—"a monthly record of current literature;" but while primarily fulfilling its mission in the interests of the book-trade, it has since the establishment of the Publishers' Weekly, which now so thoroughly covers that ground, aimed more directly to meet the wants of readers and students.

Its plan is to present each month a full survey of current literature, by means of brief reviews and notices, sketches of authors, lists of books of the month, etc. The reviews and book-notices are confined to the best books of the day, and are quoted only from recognized literary journals. Their selection is made with an aim not merely to guide by a praise of books, but to awaken an interest in subjects worth studying and authors worth knowing, by giving what throws most light both on authors and books in their relation to life and literature. The entertaining elements are chiefly the Prize Questions, of which two or three are given almost every month, and the "Literary Miscellany." Of special interest to the student are the "Cues," which give (1) references to sources of reading on topics of the day; (2) a classification of the magazine contents; (3) references to the latest authority, as soon as recognized, on any subject of general interest; (4) references to bibliographies of subjects of general interest, to approved reading-courses, and to anything written in the interest of reading and study.

A complete index, by authors, titles, or subjects, makes the annual volumes accessible for permanent reference.

Terms, $1 per year. Specimen copies sent on application. Address

F. LEYPOLDT, Publisher,
31 and 32 PARK ROW, NEW YORK.

A neat, conveniently arranged, and cheap miscellany of book-news, which will be found well worth its cost to the book-buyer, large or small. One of its best features is the giving of helpful extracts, at considerable length, from prominent books, and from the more important reviews of them.—Sunday School Times.

It is almost equally impossible for most persons to read all the new books and publications, and the criticisms on them to be found in the best journals and reviews. There is therefore special value in the field occupied by the Literary News, a monthly which selects the most reliable and readable notices of the latest publications, and is consequently a very trustworthy and interesting guide to current literature.—N. Y. Evening Mail.

Continues to bring us the latest and best criticisms on new books, prominent authors, and leading magazines. In addition to the "Prize Questions" published in every number (which alone render the periodical a prize in itself), a very valuable feature of late issues has been the two pages devoted to "Cues to Timely Topics." In these we have a select grouping, by titles, of magazine articles relating to the various topics of art, education, science, sport, etc., besides other topics of timely interest. Each number contains a rare literary mélange—a delight to all lovers of books.—Educational Weekly.

The American Catalogue,

COMPILED BY

F. LEYPOLDT AND LYNDS E. JONES.

VOL. I.: AUTHORS AND TITLES—VOL. II.: SUBJECTS.

*Price for the 2 vols., unbound (folded), $25;
half morocco, $29.*

The American Catalogue aims to present, for the first time, all the bibliographical features of the books in the American market, arranged in the first volume alphabetically by both authors and titles, and in the second volume alphabetically by subjects. Over nine hundred publishers are represented, among whom is a great number of the smaller publishers and publication societies, of whose books it has hitherto been almost impossible to keep track; and the two volumes aggregate 1490 large quarto double-column pages, containing over 125,000 entries. As it was impracticable to bring the body of the work down to a later date than July, 1876, without further delaying its appearance, an appendix has been added to the first volume, containing the publications of most of the leading houses issued subsequently to that date, and an index to this appendix is given in each volume. As a further aid, a list of bibliographies is prefixed to the second volume to assist the student in prosecuting his researches beyond the province of the Catalogue proper. These two lists serve to bridge over the interval elapsing during the compilation and publication of the work, and thus practically remedy a defect inherent in all such publications.

The Catalogue thus forms the only approximately complete guide in existence to the American books of the day, so arranged as to make reference easy from whatever direction the inquiry may come, whether from that of the author, or the title, or the subject. It not only furnishes the desired information about any particular book of which the consulter is in search, but shows what others there are by the same author, or on the same subject in which he is interested. To the bookseller, therefore, it is valuable both in filling orders and in stimulating business; to the librarian, in supplying gaps and proportioning his collection; and to all who are practically concerned with books, in furnishing information which nowhere else is obtainable by so convenient a method, if obtainable at all.

This work forms the foundation of American trade bibliography, since supplementary volumes are planned, the first to cover to 1885, if they are justified by the return of the investment in the original work. Of this only about 100 copies remain unsold (March, 1883), and the price of the unsubscribed copies will presently be raised to $40—which is necessary to cover the actual cost of this great work. It should be remembered that the present price simply covers the actual cost of compilation and publication, and is relatively lower than that of the "English Catalogue," of which the first volume has long been scarce and commands a high price. Collectors will do well to secure copies of "The American Catalogue" while it is yet in the market, since it will not and cannot be reprinted.

What Librarians say.

I must express my high sense of the extreme care and great bibliographical skill.—HENRY R. TEDDER, Sec'y U. K. Lib'y Assoc.

Let me add my hearty acknowledgment of most signal indebtedness, as a librarian, for the American Catalogue.—W. E. FOSTER, Providence Public Library.

The volume which is to contain the subject-index will alone be worth the price of subscription as a labor-saving hand-book of reference to librarians, book-dealers, and book-buyers.—A. R. SPOFFORD, Library of Congress.

I consider it a monument of your skill, intelligence, taste, and patience. I do not understand how any bookseller or library can think it economy to try to get on without it.—JOHN EDMANDS, Mercantile Library, Philadelphia.

A magnificent (magnifique) publication. We do not indulge in such luxurious catalogues in France. . . . I also wish to express my congratulations on the excellent editorial work.—G. DEPPING, Librarian of St. Geneviève, and Editor of the Journal Officiel, Paris.

What Booksellers say.

Your American Catalogue is very valuable, and we are thankful that a man exists who has pluck and energy enough to carry such a work through.—ROBERTS BROS., Boston.

I feel very proud of the Catalogue, and have found it already a source of information in regard to books that my thirty-seven years' experience did not anticipate.—WM. H. YOUNG, Troy, N. Y.

The Catalogue is a monument of patient, dry, uninviting work. . . . There is scarcely a bookseller in the country who would hesitate a moment to expend twenty-five dollars in advertising his stock; ought he to hesitate a moment about an expenditure that would enable him to sell hundreds of dollars' worth of books in a year? Such an investment would also purchase for him a reputation among his customers for intelligence and trade knowledge that would pay him him five times over.—A. D. F. RANDOLPH.

What the Press says.

Forms a unique and invaluable guide to the current literature in the American market.—London Academy.

Within its appointed limits [it] is, without question, the most perfect trade bibliography with which we are acquainted.—London Bookseller.

There is absolutely no one who has to do with books to whom it is not indispensable. In libraries it will be especially useful, particularly where—as in so many cases—there is no catalogue.—Examiner and Chronicle.

It is a truly magnificent piece of work from a typographical point of view, and, looked at from the bibliographic side, appears to be done with the enlightened care that characterizes the works of the projector.—London Publishers' Circular.

It is not possible to speak too strongly of the value of the work on first principles, of the general thoroughness and accuracy with which it has been done, or of its typographical beauty. Few fairer and more sumptuous books have been issued from the American press.—Literary World.

To booksellers, of course, it is indispensable; but it is almost equally needful to careful bookbuyers. It will take its place at once as a most valuable assistant of the book-committee in every library whose purchases extend beyond the merest current literature, or where any attempt is made to fill up particular branches; and it may even be found useful as a supplement and corrective of the classed catalogue, or perhaps as a substitute for one in those unhappy libraries which are too poor to have a guide of their own.—Nation.

Scarcely any book of reference within our knowledge has been prepared in answer to a more positive or more definite need. The usefulness of such a bibliography as this scarcely needs emphasis. Every man who reads books or cares for them has constant need to search for precisely the sort of information which is here given concerning them, and there is absolutely no other place in which one can look for it with a fair hope of finding it. The work is one which needed to be done, and it is done here with great good sense, good judgment, and rare diligence.—N. Y. Evening Post.

In the convenient arrangement of the Catalogue, in the fidelity and thoroughness of its literary preparation, and in the rare typographical good taste of its mechanical execution, a contribution is presented to American bibliography of no common practical value and which challenges the favorable attention of booksellers, librarians, compilers of literary works, and readers of books in general. . . . The plan of the work will at once commend itself to the reader, the seller, and the fancier of books, furnishing a trustworthy guide to a large portion of American literature, and presenting the student of bibliography with a welcome aid.—N. Y. Tribune.

A unique bibliography, compiled on an entirely new plan, in which the finding of titles is made exceedingly easy—the saving of time seeming to Americans of first importance. Special pains have been taken in identifying anonymous and pseudonymous authors. The digest of the immense material shows extraordinary labor. Corresponding to the price of the work is its exquisite get-up; in which respect it is approached among Continental bibliographies only by Lorenz's beautiful Catalogue de la librairie française. Its typographical arrangement, clear-cut type, excellent presswork, hard, white paper—all these make the eye rest with pleasure on its pages. Libraries and leading bookstores can scarcely do without it.—Börsenblatt für den deutschen Buchhandel (Official Journal of the German Book-trade).

THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE-LIST ANNUAL

FOR 1882 (TENTH YEAR).

Large 8°, 2248 pages. Price $1.50; post-paid, $2.

This volume is indispensable to any one that has any interest in the purchase or sale of books. It contains:

1. THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE-LISTS.—These are the latest Catalogues of American publishers, arranged alphabetically by the names of the publishers.

2. THE EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE.—This priced catalogue, which is used by the entire trade and educational interest as the most complete and reliable reference-list of school-books, is arranged on the "dictionary plan," combining a finding-list for the trade and a subject catalogue for the use of schools. (See Educational Catalogue on another page.)

3. ANNOTATED LIST OF THE BOOKS OF THE YEAR.—A complete reprint of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY full-title Records (inclusive of all the descriptive notes) from July 2, 1881, to June 30, 1882.

4. COMPLETE INDEX TO THE BOOKS OF THE YEAR.—In order to facilitate reference to the above list, it is accompanied by a full index by which every book on record can be found, whether it is looked for under author, title, or subject. Numerous cross-references are also added to facilitate the finding of books on similar subjects.

F. LEYPOLDT, Publisher,

31 AND 32 PARK ROW, NEW YORK.

Literally a book of books.—Philadelphia Press.

A very useful and reliable assistant in our business.—J. B. LIPPINCOTT & Co., Philadelphia.

One of the most time-saving and profitable instrumentalities used by the trade.—AMERICAN NEWS Co., New York.

The most useful work for reference we have ever had for general use in the trade.—LEE & SHEPARD, Boston.

Not a day passes that we do not consult it many times.—A. D. F. RANDOLPH & Co., New York.

Portentously cheap; and for libraries and book-dealers and book-men generally, indispensably useful.—Putnam's Library Companion.

Is simply indispensable to every publisher, librarian, and literary editor, as a book of reference, and in that capacity very useful to every person having much to do with literature.—Literary World.

This huge volume gives one the most comprehensive views of American literature, so far at least as titles and subjects go, that can possibly be obtained. To indicate the uses it may serve or give an idea of the information that is contained between its covers would be an impossible task within the limits of a paragraph. For the book-trade, libraries, the editorial sanctum, and literary people generally, it is invaluable, and the admirable style in which it is brought out reflects the greatest credit both upon the compiler and publisher.—Christian Union.

Some idea of the present dimensions of the book-trade may be obtained from the "Publishers' Trade-List Annual" for 1882, which is made up of over two thousand pages of publishers' catalogues. The preparation of the "Annual" is the work of Mr. F. Leyboldt, of New York, who publishes it, and who puts intelligence and enthusiasm into all his tasks of this character. A valuable feature of the "Annual," new in this number, is the inclusion of the "Record of New Books," as published from week to week in the Publishers' Weekly.—Boston Journal.

The tenth "Publishers' Trade-List Annual" has an improvement which will be appreciated by every one who has occasion to consult this collection of publishers' catalogues. In place of the so-called reference-list of books recorded during the year in the Publishers' Weekly, the monthly record from July to July is given with the appended notes, which are always a useful guide to the character of the works on which they are bestowed. The loss of convenience in having the whole series under one alphabet as hitherto is fully compensated by a subject- and author-index.—Nation.

It has often been said in these columns that few people know how to buy books, and from time to time we have given hints as to the best way of acquiring this art. To those hints we now add this: Keep constantly by you the latest edition of "Whitaker's Catalogue" and the "Trade-List Annual." They will pay for themselves from the money they will help you save in a single month, and you will seldom turn to them without finding just the information that you want. You will thus be able to buy intelligently and not in the haphazard fashion which is common even among old book-buyers.—Examiner.

INDEX MEDICUS.

A MONTHLY CLASSIFIED RECORD OF THE
CURRENT MEDICAL LITERATURE OF THE WORLD.

COMPILED UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF

DR. JOHN S. BILLINGS, SURG., U.S.A., AND DR.
ROBERT FLETCHER, M.R.C.S., ENGLAND.

The INDEX MEDICUS, established in 1879, records the titles of all new publications in Medicine, Surgery, and the collateral branches, received during the preceding month. These are classed under subject-headings and followed by the titles of valuable original articles upon the same subject, found, during the like period, in medical journals and transactions of medical societies. The periodicals thus indexed comprise all current medical journals and transactions of value, so far as they can be obtained.

The INDEX MEDICUS is published monthly, at $6 per annum, and supplements all the leading medical journals (American and foreign) as a current guide and general index to all. Sample copies sent free on application.

F. LEYPOLDT, Publisher,

31 AND 32 PARK ROW, NEW YORK.

A marvel of accuracy and completeness.—Lancet (London).

Truly a chef-d'œuvre of medical bibliography and unique of its kind.—Journal d'Hygiène (Paris).

Truly a herculean work.—Brown-Séquard (Comptes rendus des séances et mém. de la Soc. de Biologie).

We have no hesitation in saying that this journal is the most valuable contribution to medical science of the present century.—Glasgow Sanitary Journal.

No author or writer can, without great loss of time, dispense with the aid of this useful monthly.—Deutsches Archiv für Geschichte der Medizin (Leipsic).

If I could have had it when I commenced the study and practice of medicine it would have saved me several years of labor, and have added so much to my life.—Frank H. Hamilton.

An index of inestimable value. . . . We tender our best thanks to the editors and the enterprising publisher for opening up so valuable a literary mine.—Medical Press and Circular (London).

We do not see how any one can afford to be without this journal. It is a necessity, not only to those who are teachers, but to the busy practitioner everywhere.—The Medical Record (New York).

It is the result of great and continuous labor and research, and supplies a very valuable and useful index to the current medical literature of all the departments of medicine.—Med. Times and Gazette (London).

We consider the "Index-Catalogue of the Surgeon-General's Library," as well as the INDEX MEDICUS, absolutely indispensable to every person interested in medical literature.—Gazette Hebdomadaire de Méd. et de Chir. (Paris).

The amount of information to be derived from a mere perusal of such a periodical can hardly be realized by one who is not familiar with the refinements to which this business of cataloguing has been carried. It is useful and interesting to everybody, whether he be a "bookworm" or not.—Boston Medical and Surgical Journal.

The magnitude of the plan arouses our admiration. No medical opinion can now escape notice, no published analogous cases be overlooked. Let us welcome the gigantic enterprise which, in presenting a universal survey of medical study, must necessarily further the general progress of medical science.—Corresp.-Blatt f. Schweizer Aerzte (Basel).

Although Germany has, for forty years, been in possession of two similar publications (Schmidt's Jahrbücher and Canstatt's, now Virchow & Hirsch's Jahresberichte), they cannot be compared with the INDEX MEDICUS, which, in bibliographical completeness, has far surpassed both. What heretofore has been presented by our German bibliographers as current medical literature in toto embraced in reality only the principal publications of France, Germany, and England. . . . The work is indeed indispensable to every conscientious and truly scientific writer in every branch of medicine.—Med.-Chir. Centralblatt (Vienna).

To the literature of the profession the "Index" is an immense necessity—a necessity which has never before been met, so that our medical force has been wasted, and our medical literature has been left weak and imperfect. Surely every prosperous doctor can afford six dollars a year for the development of his science, for the building up of the greatest charity in the world—the medical profession. . . . Let all physicians, who can, subscribe; let them see that their societies aid in the work; let them insist that the public libraries of their respective towns and cities take each a copy; and the enterprise will move hereafter easily and steadily along the grooves of habitual prosperity.—Medical Times (Philadelphia).

Notwithstanding the completeness of such a work as the Index-Catalogue (of the Library of the Surgeon-General's Office, U.S.A.), it is quite evident that the weekly and monthly increase of medical literature is constantly rendering it more and more defective, so that, before many years are over, it would, to a great extent, have lost the value which it now possesses, and a new edition would be imperatively required. In order to supplement this work, and to prevent the inconvenience which would constantly increase as time went on, Dr. Billings, in conjunction with Dr. Fletcher, has established a new periodical, the INDEX MEDICUS. This gives the names of authors and the titles of all new medical books under their appropriate subjects, and also complete references to current periodical medical literature. The labor involved in the preparation of such an index as this is very great indeed, and the expense of issuing it is very considerable. To medical men whose time is fully occupied with practice, and who have neither inclination nor leisure to write, the INDEX MEDICUS would be of no direct service, and they might think it a waste of money to subscribe to it. And yet such would not be the case, for the existence of such an index enables those who have the time and inclination to write to become fully acquainted with all the literature bearing upon the subjects which they treat. The INDEX MEDICUS therefore becomes, indirectly, of great benefit to those who have time for reading only. It will be a calamity to the profession if this work be allowed to be discontinued for want of the support which it deserves, and we therefore hope that not only those to whom it will be of immediate use will subscribe to it, but many others who will derive from it only the indirect advantage to which we have alluded.—The Practitioner (London).

JUST PUBLISHED:
BOOKS OF ALL TIME.
A GUIDE FOR THE PURCHASE OF BOOKS.
 WITH A BRIEF PURCHASE-LIST REVISED FOR SEASON 1882-83.
 COMPILED BY
 F. LEYPOLDT AND LYNDS E. JONES.

32mo. Price, in paper, 10 cents.

Consisting of a selection of the standard English and American writers, giving the best or most popular editions, with their sizes and prices. To the works of each writer are appended notes by the best critical authorities of England and America, descriptive of the author and his writings, pointing out their characteristics, influences, excellences, etc. The Catalogue thus forms a compact and novel manual of classical English literature.

Those desirous of establishing a home library of the best literature will find this an honest and practical little guide.—N. Y. Tribune.

The product of much bibliographical experience, compactly arranged, inexpensive, and, if used with a due admixture of knowledge and discretion, may be found of practical convenience and benefit.—Dial.

An admirable little compilation. Compared to the labor and care expended upon the little manual, which is unique in its way and wonderfully useful to the book-buyer, the price is utterly insignificant.—Phila. Press.

It is a guide for the purchase of standard authors—the books “no gentleman’s library should be without.” To each author’s name is appended a selection of criticisms of his works, a list of which follows, accompanied by prices. No safer guide to the best editions in the American market than this little catalogue have we ever met; and of the authors selected there are but few whose works are not “books for all time,” as Mr. Ruskin has it.—Critic.

A capital little handbook. Under the name of each great writer is a list of his best works, and this enumeration is followed by extracts from the opinions of the greatest critics upon the volumes which are named. The immense area from which these fragments are taken makes them a treasure, and even to an inveterate reader they will be suggestive of further exploration.—Publishers’ Circular (London).

BOOKS FOR THE YOUNG.

A Guide for Parents and Children, compiled by C. M. HEWINS, Librarian of Hartford Library Association. 32mo. Price, in paper, 25 cents.

"Meets most admirably the demand for carefully selected lists, and contains also valuable and interesting counsel."—W. E. FOSTER.

"Contains an admirable selection of books for children, and by far the best catalogue of books of this kind that has ever appeared."—S. S. GREEN.

"Miss C. M. Hewins, of Hartford, has long been known to all who are interested in making the public library the ally of the public schools, as one of the most successful of modern librarians of the American school. . . . A book which it is difficult to praise too highly."—Critic.

"Miss Hewins's classified list of suitable books for the young deserves more extended praise than we have space for. It will bring joy to the hearts of hundreds of parents, whose confidence in the compiler's judgment will be assured by her prefatory remarks and directions, and her choice extracts from divers authorities on the true aim and criterion of juvenile literature."

—Nation.

"When Mr. Charles Dudley Warner says that 'the young who read at all read nothing but trash,' he does not exaggerate so very much. For them [the parents], as well as for librarians and teachers, this book will serve an excellent purpose, for it is far the best guide that has been printed, and there is nothing in it that is not of excellent and interesting quality. It is one that every parent should have who wishes his children to have good intellectual culture, and not come under Mr. Warner's ban."

—Boston Transcript.

"A little manual long needed, and one that will be heartily welcomed by parents who recognize the importance of carefully supervising their children's reading, but are often confused and at a loss on account of the multitude of works for the young now published, of every conceivable degree of merit and demerit. A classified list of good books is given, with indications as to the age and sex to which they are best suited. The list is prefaced by hints as to how children should be taught the right use of books, a note on good reading in English and American history for children, and a "symposium" on children's books, containing interesting extracts from many sources. Miss Hewins has charge of the department 'Literature for the Young' in the Library Journal, is librarian of the Hartford Library Association, and may safely be accepted as an authority and guide by parents and buyers of children's books."—Good Literature.

LIBRARIES AND READERS.

Chapters of suggestion and counsel on the subject of reading, the use of books and of libraries. By WILLIAM E. FOSTER, Librarian of the Providence Public Library, and compiler of the "Monthly Reference Lists." 16mo, cloth, 50 cents.

Contents.—Some Hints on Right Reading; Correction of Aimless Reading; The Specializing of Reading, for General Readers; "Current Literature" and "Standard Literature"; Securing the Interest of a Community; What may be Done at Home; How to Use a Library; Books and Articles on Reading.

"Full of good sense, begotten of zeal and experience. It should be placed in every school library."—Boston Advertiser.

"It is one of those little books the value of which is not to be determined by their weight avoirdupois. It is full of valuable suggestion and shrewd, wise counsel."—Boston Commonwealth.

"Should be in the hands of every one who wishes to make reading a means of culture as well as of entertainment. Not a few librarians can find in it suggestions which if followed will greatly inure to the benefit of the public they serve."—Good Literature.

"Mr. Foster's aim is to show how the aimless reader of the ordinary public library, the man or woman who 'wants a book' but does not know what book, or even what sort of book, may be led to take a lively interest in books and the library. Here Mr. Foster speaks as one having authority, because in doing this very thing he has been most successful. His little book is to be recommended in the highest manner to all who seek to improve the quality of their reading, or who desire to give aid and advice to others."—Critic.

"No one, with limited resources, has done more to turn to account the collection under his charge, or shown greater activity and ingenuity in devising ways and means to stimulate reading, study, and research, and guide them in the proper direction. His chapters are valuable as exhibiting phase after phase of his perception of the conditions under which public libraries are now used, and found to be of service, by widely differing classes of the community. They are all sound, practical, and suggestive, and will benefit parents, their elder children, and the author's fellow-librarians about equally."—Nation.

LIBRARIES AND SCHOOLS.

Papers selected by SAMUEL S. GREEN, Librarian of the Free Public Library, Worcester, Mass. 16mo, cloth, 50 cents.

Addresses and papers which have done much to convince teachers that important aid may be had in their work, by making a large use of libraries; and giving accounts of successful experiments made in different places, by librarians and teachers, in bringing about a use of libraries which has proved valuable to schools.

Contents.—The Public Library and the Public Schools, by Charles Francis Adams, Jr.; The Relation of the Public Library to the Schools, by Samuel S. Green; Libraries as Educational Institutions, by Samuel S. Green; The Public Library as an Auxiliary to the Public Schools, by Robert C. Metcalf; The Relation of Libraries to the School System, by William E. Foster; A Plan of Systematic Training in Reading at School, by William E. Foster.

"All of these papers deserve and will no doubt receive thoughtful consideration."—Critic.

"Librarians and teachers everywhere who consult this little volume will close it with a sense of indebtedness."—Nation.

"Abounds in practical suggestions, and every school-teacher ought promptly to make its acquaintance."—Christian Register.

"Nothing could be better than the suggestions which the book contains for facilitating the steps of young scholars to the libraries."—Boston Advertiser.

"The special value of these papers is that they not only show what might be done, but tell what has been done. Teachers who recognize the truth that they owe something to their pupils beyond mere listening to routine recitations, and librarians who have a higher view of their duties than that which regards them as purely clerical, will find practical suggestions and accounts of successful experiments in bringing about the use of the libraries by the schools."—Good Literature.

THE BEST ENGLISH DICTIONARY.

A New and Revised Edition of

AN ETYMOLOGICAL AND PRONOUNCING DICTIONARY OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE. Including a very copious selection of Scientific, Technical, and other Terms and Phrases. Designed for use in schools and colleges, and as a handy book for general reference. By the Rev. JAMES STORMONTH. The pronunciation carefully revised by Rev. P. H. Phelps, M.A. Seventh edition, with enlarged Supplement, containing many words not to be found in any other dictionary. Crown 8vo, pp. 800. Cloth, $3.00.

"It is, as many of our readers know, the very model of the dictionary required by students—the dictionary that does not fail at a pinch, seeing that it gives pronunciation, derivation, all the inflections of words, postfixes, abbreviations, classic and foreign phrases, Scripture and other proper names, with the pronunciation, etc. It is, so far as words go, a little library of reference; and the whole presents itself in handy size."—School Board Chronicle.

"Should find a place on every library table."—Notes and Queries.

"This dictionary is admirable."—Westminster Review.

AN ELEMENTARY HISTORY OF ART: Architecture, Sculpture, Painting, Music. By N. D'ANVERS, author of "Life of Raphael D'Urbino," etc. New edition, with many additions and 76 new engravings. AN INDEX TO PERIODICAL LITERATURE.

By WILLIAM FREDERICK POOLE, LL.D.,
Librarian of the Chicago Public Library.

Third Edition, brought down to January, 1882. With the assistance, as Associate Editor, of WILLIAM I. FLETCHER, Assistant Librarian of the Washington Library, Hartford, Conn; and the co-operation of the American Library Association, and the Library Association of the United Kingdom.

ONE VOLUME, ROYAL 8VO, 1442 PAGES. Price, in cloth, $15.00, sheep, $17.00; half morocco, $18.00. Half morocco, extra, gilt top, uncut edges, $19.00.

Mr. W. F. Poole, the present Librarian of the Chicago Public Library, and former Librarian of the Boston Mercantile and Athenæum Libraries, whilst a student of Yale College, over thirty years ago, recognized, even at that date, the great need of an index to periodical literature. From the materials then within his reach he compiled an "Index to Subjects treated in the Reviews and other Periodicals," which was published in 1848, and very soon went out of print. In 1853 he issued a second edition under the title "Index to Periodical Literature," greatly enlarged, and brought down to January, 1852. This edition was also in a short time exhausted. In 1876 Mr. Poole, with the aid of Mr. W. I. Fletcher, as associate editor, and with the active co-operation and assistance of the American Library Association, and of the Library Association of the United Kingdom, undertook the preparation of a new edition. In this, two hundred and thirty-two periodicals are included, embracing nearly the whole list of English and American Magazines and Reviews for the present century, down to January, 1882. Periodical literature now contains the best thought of the day, and is ever increasing in extent and importance. A glance at the leading Reviews and Magazines will show the names of the best writers of the day—Historians, Scientists, Essayists, Poets, Novelists; and this Index will be an invaluable help to students, literary men, and scholars generally.

PRESS NOTICES.

"One of the marvels of bibliographical research and industry. . . . Those who have need of such a work of reference owe no little debt of gratitude to those who have undertaken the gigantic labor of completing it."—The Saturday Review.

"To the industry and accuracy of those who carried their labors to a close every page of this book testifies: and it is impossible not to admire the single-hearted devotion of the compilers. . . . The work is so well done and so useful that the question whether it could have been better done may be left alone. Mr. Poole may well be proud of a work which will make his name famous on both sides of the Atlantic, and Chicago may well be proud of the industry and energy of her librarian."—The Athenæum.

"It is a master-key to a mine of literature which is unexplored and unexplorable unless the aid of this index is available. . . . The librarian and the bibliographer will scarcely need more than a reminder that the volume has at length been issued, whilst to the bookseller who really wishes to be master of his calling, Poole's 'Index to Periodical Literature' should find a place on his private shelf, beside Watt and Allibone, and Lowndes and Low, and our own Reference Catalogue."—The Bookseller.

"Students and writers as well as librarians will be thankful for the compilation of this invaluable work. The general usefulness as a guide to the rich literature buried in our magazines and reviews can scarcely be overestimated, while as a saver of time and labor to the literary man it is worth treble its price."—The Publishers' Weekly.

"Indispensable to every literary man in England or America. . . . In magnitude and thoroughness the work surpasses anything that has been heretofore attempted in this field."—N. Y. Times.

"After the successful completion of the 'Index to Periodical Literature,' we are prepared to believe that everything is possible to the American librarians in conference assembled."—The Academy (London).

"This stupendous work, most appreciated by literary men, . . . gives, in a condensed alphabetical arrangement, the contents of 240 different periodicals, numbering 6205 volumes."—The Independent.

PORTER & COATES, PHILADELPHIA.

ZELL'S NEW AND REVISED ENCYCLOPEDIA.

L. DE COLANGE, LL.D., Editor-in-Chief.

A Universal Reference Book of over 2500 three-column large quarto pages, INCLUDING an unabridged Dictionary of the English Language, with Pronouncing Vocabulary and a Gazetteer of the world. It is illustrated with nearly three thousand engravings and contains a complete Atlas of the World, composed of thirty-five large colored maps, 12x16 inches, with special letterpress to each map.

Under alphabetical titles it gives the essential contents of books on History, Natural History, Medicine, Philosophy, Biography, Physiology, Government, Mechanics, Geography, Botany, Law, Manufactures, Science, Electricity, Commerce, Mathematics, Art, Mineralogy, Religion, Architecture, Geology, Chemistry, Bible History, Agriculture, etc.

It is the only Encyclopedia having been awarded medals at the World's Fairs of Vienna, 1873; Chile, 1875; Centennial, Philadelphia, 1876; and Paris, 1878; and a great number of educators, journalists, clergymen, professional and business men of prominence have endorsed it as the best Encyclopedia.

"We have Zell's, The Britannica, Appletons,' Chambers's, Johnson's, The Edinburgh, The English, The London, Brande's, and some others of lesser reputation. I use Zell's more than any of the others. I keep it upon my table for constant reference. While Zell's is more compact and easily handled than Appletons,' Chambers's, or Johnson's, which lay especial claims to being well adapted to popular use, I have found that it contains more important FACTS concerning the various subjects under discussion than either of them. It is, moreover, a marvel of accuracy."—GEO. E. PLUMBE, Editor Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"Zell's Encyclopedia is a novelty in literature, but a successful one. It lies on our table, and proves frequently more serviceable than the dictionary, which is too brief, or the many cyclopedias, which are too voluminous."—Harper's Magazine.

Sold by subscription, complete, from $37.50 to $72. Specimen pages, with maps and circulars, sent free.

A TREASURY OF ENGLISH WORDS.

ROGET'S THESAURUS OF ENGLISH
WORDS AND PHRASES,

Classified and arranged so as to facilitate the expression of ideas and assist in literary composition. By PETER MARK ROGET, M.D., F.R.S. New edition, enlarged and improved, partly from the author's notes, and with a full index by JOHN LEWIS ROGET. Over 200 pages and 30,000 additions to the original work. Crown 8vo, nearly 800 pages. Price $2.00. The same with Denison's Patent Index, $3.00.

"A carefully revised edition of Dr. Roget's famous work—a work to which has been brought the learning and literary acumen of father and son for nearly eighty years. The volume as now enlarged contains some 700 good-sized pages, and it is a book well-nigh indispensable to every scholar."—Golden Rule.

"This book, unlike the ordinary dictionary, classifies words not according to sound or orthography, but according to ideas. The unpractised in composition is often annoyed by not having the word ready at hand to express his ideas; a glance at the proper page will bring the sought-for word."—Church Union.

"A book designed to aid the English student at once to exactness and elegance of expression, by bringing to his hand a catalogue of the words of the language classed under their chief categories, and handily grouped in families of near relationship; aiding at a glance to that of all available terms best suited to the thought, and helping to the best synonyms so as to guard against tedious re-uses of the same word. We have for years had two copies of the manual in constant employ—one at our office desk, and one at home—and we speak that we do know when we say that it is a great piece of un wisdom for one who desires exactness and elegance of expression, to neglect the various helps which it offers."—Congregationalist.

13 ASTOR PLACE, NEW YORK.

 SUPPLEMENTARY TO ALL OTHER CYCLOPÆDIAS.

Cyclopædia of Political Science, Political Economy, and of the Political History of the United States.

By the best American and European writers.
 Edited by JOHN J. LALOR.

What distinguished men and the press say of it.

"The Cyclopædia has my cordial good wishes. It does you, as editor, great credit, and it will be of great use. You have all the good names, and they have given you good work."—WM. G. SUMNER, Professor of Political Economy and Political Science in Yale College.

"My own conviction is, that this Cyclopædia will do more for the political and economical education of our citizens than any work now before the American public. It ought to become a manual for reference for every legislator, teacher, and voter."—M. B. ANDERSEN, President of Rochester University.

"I have looked over the Cyclopædia pretty carefully, and it seems to me one of the most important contributions to Political Science that has ever been made in this country. The articles are well chosen and ably written. It is a book that ought to be in every library."—PROF. JOHN FISKE, Cambridge, Mass.

"We cannot withhold our warm commendation for the industry and discrimination of the editor and the enterprise of the publishers. The Cyclopædia, of which they have given us the first volume, is a timely and valuable aid to political education. As a work of reference upon the subjects of which it treats, it will prove especially serviceable to students, editors, and public speakers."—New York Nation.

"The type, binding, and all the mechanical details of this really great work of reference are of the very best kind, and we can heartily echo President White's commendation and say: 'The book ought to be in the library, not only of every man who takes an active part in politics, but of every one who wishes to give thought to the discharge of his ordinary political duties.'"—Chicago Tribune.

"The publication of this work is certainly one of the most important ventures in the line of Cyclopædias."—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

Complete in three volumes. Prices, per set: cloth, $18.00; library leather, $22.50; half morocco, $25.50; full morocco, $30.00.

ENGLISH LITERATURE AND LITERARY CRITICISM.

A Practical Guide to Systematic Literary Study. With Typical Selections, Illustrative Criticisms, and Exhaustive Analyses of the best and most notable works in the English Language. Showing what to study, how to study, and how best to apply the knowledge acquired thereby. POETRY. By JAMES BALDWIN, A. M., Superintendent of Public Schools, Huntington, Indiana. 8vo, cloth, extra. Price $2.50.

The author classifies Poetry into its various departments, and treats of each both in an analytical and historical manner. He points out the beauties of the chief poems, and thus, while the work serves to guide the student what to read, and how to read, also excites and stimulates him to the actual perusal of the best poetic productions.

ENGLISH LITERATURE AND LITERARY CRITICISM.

A Practical Guide to Systematic Literary Study. With Typical Selections, Illustrative Criticisms, and Exhaustive Analyses of the best and most notable works in the English Language. PROSE. By JAMES BALDWIN, A. M., Superintendent of Public Schools, Huntington, Indiana. 8vo, cloth, extra. Price $2.50.

The scientific study of English Prose is the aim of this work. The most notable writings come under review. Each class of writings is separately examined in a historical order. The reader becomes acquainted in this way with what is worthy his attentive study, developing a critical faculty which enables him to judge of the relative merits of what he reads. The superiority of Prof. Baldwin's works on English Literature consists in—1. A new presentation after a new method; 2. A classification of literature that is natural and eminently scientific; 3. A treatment concise yet thoroughly exhaustive; 4. A greater comprehensiveness than that of any other work on the subject, covering what would require several other books to reach in the same way.

The Nation:

A WEEKLY JOURNAL OF POLITICS, LITERATURE,
SCIENCE, AND ART. ESTABLISHED 1865.

The literary notices in "The Nation" during the first three months of 1883 occupied 105 pages—an average of 8 pages per week.

During the year 1882 more than eighty writers contributed to the literary departments of "The Nation," or about one-half of the available staff of the paper.

No effort is spared to make "The Nation" a prime authority in literary criticism by specialists.

"The Nation" is unlike any other journal, American or foreign, in the combination of its political, literary, and news departments.

"The Nation" is, for its quality, the cheapest weekly journal now published. Subscription price, $3 per year, postpaid. Specimen copy sent on request. Address the Publisher, 210 Broadway, New York.

"Not only the best American, but one of the best critical and political weekly journals of recent times, and as yet without a peer in any other country."—BROCKHAUS'S CONVERSATIONS-LEXIKON, Leipzig.

"A newspaper which I read regularly and with profit, a newspaper which is the best, so far as my experience goes, of all American newspapers, and one of the best newspapers anywhere."—MATTHEW ARNOLD in Nineteenth Century, May 1882.

THE

Magazine of American History.

EDITED BY MRS. MARTHA J. LAMB.

(Author of "The History of the City of New York.")

A MONTHLY JOURNAL.

Devoted to history and the literature of history, containing original articles from distinguished historical writers, original documents of great interest, reprints, notes and queries, proceedings of historical and learned societies, and valuable book-notices.

It is handsomely illustrated with original [drawings, rare portraits, reproductions of old prints, and maps. It is an admirable table-companion for the scholar and the antiquarian, and it is a readable and entertaining journal for all members of the family.

"One of the most entertaining and instructive of periodical publications is the Magazine of American History, the May number of which we have just received."—Montreal Gazette.

"A periodical peculiarly charming. There is so much of solid worth in the Magazine of American History that it deserves a large popular success."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"It should be in every household and library; it is a most entertaining periodical for every intelligent reader, besides being a mine of mental wealth and culture."—Washington Chronicle.

"Under the editorship of Mrs. Martha J. Lamb it is certain to take higher rank than ever before."—Boston Post.

"The June number will interest all readers in every part of the country. George Bancroft, the historian, in a letter to the editor, settles some notably interesting mooted points concerning the early voyages."—Rochester Democrat.

THE AMERICAN ALMANAC

AND

TREASURY OF FACTS, STATISTICAL, FINANCIAL,
AND POLITICAL, FOR THE YEAR 1883.

Edited by AINSWORTH R. SPOFFORD, Librarian of Congress.

This valuable work, now in the sixth year of its publication, contains more than its usual variety of official and statistical information. It gives in the most compact form for ready reference all the most important facts concerning American agriculture, manufactures, mining, shipping, railroads, telegraphs, banks, post-offices, public lands, pensions, patents, education, currency, revenue and expenditure, taxation, prices, tariff, imports and exports, public debts, investments, army and navy, etc. Contains also an official directory of Congress and the executive and judicial officers of the government, with full tables of the administrations and presidential elections from the beginning. To these is added a view of each State in the Union, with a list of State officers, finances, etc., and a succinct view of foreign nations, with notable events and obituaries of the year. The United States census of 1880, so far as officially tabulated, is also embraced.

"Presenting vastly more information than is to be found in any other publication."—Boston Advertiser.

"It nearly approaches the ideal pocket encyclopædia of which the average man always stands so sorely in need."—N. Y. World.

"The most comprehensive, if not the most compact, manual of political, statistical, and miscellaneous information issued in this country."—N. Y. Tribune.

"It supplies a want felt in business offices with excellent intelligence and thoroughness, making a year-book far more valuable than any heretofore published in the United States."—Springfield Republican.

"Every one who has learned by frequent use of the work to know its unique value as an inexhaustible treasury of exact statistical and other information will be glad to know that the fourth volume, for 1881, has made its appearance."—N. Y. Evening Post.

"The variety and extent of the information contained fills the mind of the reader with continual admiration. It is a perfect cyclopædia of statistics, as lucidly and compactly arranged as it is comprehensively collected. The American Almanac can only be described by saying that it contains everything that any one by any likelihood will want to know."—Philadelphia North American.

Library Edition, 381 pages, 12mo, cloth, $1.50; Popular edition, 281 pages, 12mo, paper, 50c.

FUNK & WAGNALLS'

SELECT PUBLICATIONS.

SCHAFF-HERZOG ENCYCLOPÆDIA OF RELIGIOUS KNOWLEDGE. By Rev. PHILIP SCHAFF, D.D., LL.D. In three large royal octavo volumes. Cloth, $6.00; sheep, $7.50; half morocco, $9.00; full morocco, gilt, $12.00.

This work is based on the new edition of the renowned Herzog Theological Encyclopædia of Germany. It is thoroughly edited and adapted, by a hundred of the best scholars in this country and England, to English and American readers. It is acknowledged to be the standard authority in its department.

From The Scotsman, Edinburgh, December 29, 1882:

"It supplies a distinct want in our theological literature, and it is sure to meet with welcome from readers who wish a popular book of reference on points of historical, bibliographical, and theological interest. Many of the articles are well compressed statements, and give facts which may be sought far and wide and in vain in our encyclopædias."

ENCYCLOPÆDIA OF QUOTATIONS. With full Concordance and other Indexes. By J. K. HOYT and ANNA L. WARD. This work contains 17,000 quotations, classified under subjects; nearly 2000 selections from the Latin poets and orators; many Latin, French, German, and Spanish proverbs, with 50,000 lines of Concordance, making at once available every quotation. Royal 8vo, over 900 pp., cloth, $5.00; sheep, $6.00; full morocco, $10.00.

Scholars and statesmen, journalists and clergymen, agree in characterizing this as "the best book of quotations." It must long remain the standard among its kind.

KNIGHT'S HISTORY OF ENGLAND. A History of Society and Government from the earliest period to our own times. By CHAS. KNIGHT. Prest. Noah Porter, D.D., LL.D., says: "For a single history which may serve for constant use and reference in the library, or for frequent reading, it is to be preferred to every other." 1370 royal quarto pages, 2 vols., cloth, $3.75; sheep, $5.00; Fr. full morocco, $5.50.

Funk & Wagnalls.

ANALYTICAL BIBLE CONCORDANCE. Revised Edition.

Containing every word in alphabetical order, arranged under its Hebrew or Greek original, with the literal meaning of each word and its pronunciation. Exhibiting about 311,000 references, marking 30,000 various readings in the New Testament. With the latest information on Biblical Geography and Antiquities. By ROBERT YOUNG, LL.D. Fourth revised and authorized edition. One large volume, 4to, cloth, $2.50; sheep, $4.00; Fr. im. morocco, $4.65. These are special prices, for a limited time.

This is the only authorized and correct edition of this gigantic work, the most complete Concordance in the English or any other language. The New York Tribune says of it: "This is the most important work in religious literature that has been produced for many years, . . . and will be as valuable to students of the Holy Word as an unabridged dictionary is to the general public."

THE TREASURY OF DAVID. By Rev. CHAS. H. SPURGEON

In 7 vols., 8vo, cloth. Price, per volume, $2.00. Volumes sold separately. The most important and practical commentary on the Book of Psalms. It is rich in selections from the entire range of literature.

GODET'S COMMENTARY ON LUKE. A Commentary on the Gospel of St. Luke. By F. GODET, Doctor and Professor of Theology, Neufchatel. Translated from the Second French Edition. With Preface and Notes by John Hall, D.D. 2 vols., paper, 584 pp., $2.00; 1 vol., 8vo, cloth, $2.50.

MEYER'S CRITICAL AND EXEGETICAL COMMENTARY ON THE ACTS OF THE APOSTLES.

This edition has an Introduction and Notes by the eminent scholar and preacher, William Ormiston, D.D. 1 vol., 8vo, cloth, $2.50.
